Circleville's campaign for funds with which to buy 50 new High School band uniforms was far over the top Friday as the drive was completed. Frank Fischer, superintendent of schools, reported that the total fund collected amounted to $2,454.49, almost double the $1,250 established as the goal when the campaign started.

Mr. Fischer said that the uniforms will be purchased as soon as possible, and he declared that there is a possibility that some of the money may be used to outfit the Junior band which appears for various functions.

The C. F. Zaenglein testimonial dinner conducted Thursday evening put $107.30 into the treasury and numerous contributions made in the last week swelled the fund to its present high mark. Contributions previously published in The Daily Herald total $1,126.72 and a new list adds $1,327.77 making the total of $2,454.49.

Selection Being Made
The selection of new uniforms is in the hands of a committee which includes Mr. Zaenglein, Robert G. Colville, Miss Elma Rains of the High School faculty, and Mrs. Allen Thornton of the American Legion Auxiliary.

The contributions in addition to those already appearing in The Herald include Zaenglein dinner $107.30, Tag Day $121.84, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Lewis $50, Chamber of Commerce $50, Odd Fellows Lodge $50, Masonic Lodge $50, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Orr $25, Judge and Mrs. Meeker Terwilliger $25, Mr. and Mrs. T. 'FLU' EPIDEMIC HITS NUMEROUS COLUMBUS FOLK

COLUMBUS, March 1—An influenza epidemic, described by Dr. Nelson Dysart, city health commissioner, as being five times as bad as that of last year, was rampant in Columbus today.

Dr. Dysart revealed that 11 city physicians were busy day and night on "flu" cases. He based his estimate of the seriousness of the epidemic on the physicians' reports as no official figures were available.

Warm, wet weather after a cold snap was held to be a contributing factor to the spread of the disease.

'Scarlett', 'Mr. Chips' Win Film Academy's Major Honors for '39

Vivien Leigh
"Gone With the Wind"

Robert Donat
"Goodbye, Mr. Chips"

Half Of Available Awards Presented To 'Gone' Show

HOLLYWOOD, March 1—Gay and irrepressible Hollywood was shaking itself today from the big blow and the British blockade, because two stars from the merry old isle, green-eyed Vivien Leigh and soft-spoken Robert Donat, had established a firm contraband control on acting honors, while most everything else in filmland had "Gone With the Wind."

Miss Leigh entered the hall of cinema immortals by capturing the Motion Picture Academy's annual award for the best performance by an actress in 1939, while Donat carried away a companion golden statuette for the outstanding male role of the year.

Miss Leigh scored as the Scarlett O'Hara of "Gone With the Wind," and Donat earned his tribute as the venerable schoolmaster in "Goodbye Mr. Chips."

All in all, it was the night of the big win in the Ambassador Hotel's Coconut Grove, where 800 excited white-tied men and diamond-and-ermined women, the cream of filmland's talent and beauty crop, had gathered to learn who among them had gathered the current honors.

Eight Honors For 'Gone'
The picture based on Miss Margaret Mitchell's book ran away with eight of the sixteen major awards, for some unknown reason called "Oscars," the cleanest sweep in movie history, to wit, besides Miss Leigh: the best production of 1939; best director, Victor Fleming; best supporting actress, Hattie McDaniel; best screen play, Sidney Howard; best color photography, Ernest Haller and Ray Rennahan; best film editing, Hal C. Kern and James E. Newcom, and the best art direction, Lyel Wheeler.

BIG EXPOSITION OF CORN, BEANS BEING OFFERED

The opening gun of the Corn and Soybean Show in Memorial Hall, a feature of the Manufacturers' and Farmers' Week which was planned by the Circleville Chamber of Commerce, was sounded early Friday as exhibitors with hammers pounding and nails flying started the construction of their booths where their produce is on display.

There was hustle and bustle, mixed with the chatter of voices and the "cheep-cheeping" of chicks that were on hand when the program for the day got under way at 11 o'clock at which time judging of the county grown corn and soybeans was scheduled.

Following the judging in the morning, the session was devoted to discussion of the corn and soybean growing. Highlighting the afternoon meeting were the talks of Glen McIlroy of Irwin, president of the American Soybean Association; Professor J. B. Park of the department of agronomy of Ohio State University and Professor A. W. McCuen of the department of agricultural engineering at the university.

The climax of the Manufacturers' and Farmers' Week show will be the banquet at the American Hotel "Hurricane", at 6:30. The show may become an annual affair if it is judged successful this year. It is a fitting program to unite the farmers, manufacturers and retailers of the city and county into a cooperative movement to solve all the local problems and make for better understanding between the three groups.

BURGLAR KILLS DAYTON MERCHANT WITH PISTOL

DAYTON, March 1—Dayton police today searched for a burglar who shot and killed Henry Harshman, 74, when he apparently surprised the robber in his cafe. Harshman, shot in the heart, was found lying on the floor. A revolver was clamped in his hand but it had not been fired. Police said the burglar had apparently entered the building through a broken window.

Viborg Destroyed By Red

Among Wreckage

HELSINKI, March 1—The situation of the Finnish troops in the Mannerheim Line was clearly nearing a desperate stage today as Soviet Russia hurled new and enormous forces into the battle on the Carelian Isthmus.

Although the Finns still held Viborg, key city to the forward defense system, the steady pressure of the Soviet troops led military observers that it would be merely a matter of hours before the city must be abandoned.

Heavy Russian attacks by large forces of troops were reported from the Transgund sector in an attempt to outflank the western end of the Finnish line. This attack was taken by Helsinki circles as an indication that the Russians were preparing to press their offensive beyond Viborg.

Bay's Roads Bombed
Russian planes carried out heavy bombing attacks on the roads along the west shores of Viborg Bay, where Finnish troops launched counter-attacks over the ice to halt the Russian steamroller.

Helsinki had two air raid alarms, one at noon and the other at 2:30 p. m. but no planes were sighted.

More than 500,000 Russian troops were believed engaged in the battle for Viborg, now so close to the city that their field guns were hurling shells into its ruins at the rate of ten a minute.

Reports from the battle front said that Viborg has been "reduced to a shambles" and that artillery shells now hammering the city are "blowing it to pieces."

The German consulate has been wrecked, eye witnesses said, adding that they had seen a picture of Chancellor Hitler swinging pre-

REPAINTING AND REPAIR OF CITY JAIL NEARS END

Repainting and repair work on the city jail, ordered by the Board of Health under the threat of padlocking and authorized by the city council following approval of the recommendations that were made to that group, will be complete next week.

New coats of white paint have now obscured the drab yellow walls and each cell has been cleaned and repainted. Prior to the painting job, the cells and the corridor between them had been required to provide better lighting conditions.

The construction of a barred door between the cell block and the hallway leading to the block will be completed Friday.

Of the entire cleaning and repainting project the only incomplete work, which will be finished next week, is the installation of water traps in the sewer system to prevent the backflow of water into the cell block during heavy spring rains and melting winter snows. It is expected that the completed program will be offered for inspection to the city health department.

MANSLAUGHTER CITED

ATHENS, March 1—Pending posting of a $2,000 bond, Massey Koon, 26, of nearby Doanville, was held on manslaughter charges today. He pleaded not guilty before Magistrate T. R. Bennett to the slaying during an altercation of Hiram Robinett, 56, also of Doanville.

Actress to Rejoin Hubby

GLORIA Dickson, screen player, was enroute West today to rejoin her husband, Perc Westmore, Hollywood beauty expert, after he had expressed concern over her safety. Boarding the train in Lincoln, Nebraska, the actress said that she and her husband had had a disagreement and she just wanted to "worry him for a few days." She said she had stopped in Lincoln to say "hello" to Cliff Edwards, famed "Ukelele Ike."

Hunsicker Selected To Attend Dem Convention

Clark Hunsicker, West Union Street, a prominent Pickaway County Democrat, and Walter Gordon of Lancaster, chairman of the Fairfield County Democratic executive committee, were elected Thursday evening as delegates of the 11th Ohio Congressional District to attend the national Democratic convention in Chicago beginning July 15.

POLICE HUNTING GIRL FUGITIVES FROM DELAWARE

The fourth escape of Augusta Ramsey Brown, 20, Long Alley, from the Girls' Industrial School at Delaware was reported Friday by Frank C. Goff, county probation officer.

Announcement of the escape was made by the school authorities to Mr. Goff who returned her to the institution after her previous departures. Her absence, along with that of two other girls, was noticed Wednesday night.

When last seen the Circleville girl was wearing a gray striped dress and a brown sweater. She is five feet three inches tall with brown eyes and hair.

It is expected that she will return to Circleville as she has on previous occasions. Mrs. Brown was sent to the Industrial school in August, 1938 on charges of delinquency. Her present disappearance marks the fourth time that she has left the practically unguarded institution without permission.

GREEN'S MISSING AUTO FOUND WRECKED BY TREE

The whereabouts of James White, Maplewood Avenue, driver for Willis Green, South Court Street, newspaper distributor, was unknown Friday after an accident two miles east of Meade, Pickaway Township, at 1 a. m. in which the Green car was wrecked.

White was supposed to be driving the automobile, Green told Sheriff Charles Radcliff, but he has not appeared at his home nor has he reported to Mr. Green since the mishap. The car, a Chevrolet, was towed to Circleville Friday by the Harden-Stevenson Co. wrecker.

The first intimation that local authorities had of an accident came during the morning when Frank McAfee, Meade groceryman, called Sheriff Radcliff to inform him that a wrecked car was standing along the road. It had struck a tree. Radcliff went to investigate and learned that it was Green's machine. On his return to Circleville he asked Green if he knew what had happened to his car and when Green answered in the negative the sheriff informed him that it had been wrecked.

Minister Tells Welles Troops Ready to Strike

Dark Picture Of Europe's Almost Certain
Trend Painted For Emissary Of F. D. R.;
Hitler To Be Interviewed Saturday

END OF BRIT DOMINATION NAZI GOAL

"American Angle" Stressed By Ribbentrop
During Meeting In Berlin; "Armistice
Hollow Farce," Declares Spokesman

BERLIN, March 1—Nazi Germany stands firmly opposed to any peace which fails to end Great Britain's "strangle-hold" of the world's trade routes, Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop told Under Secretary of State Sumner Welles today.

In a two-hour prelude to the American envoy's forthcoming conference with Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler, Von Ribbentrop gave Welles a discouraging picture of the outlook for peace.

An armistice in any shape or form until Britain's domination of the seas and the trade routes of the world is ended would be a "hollow farce," Von Ribbentrop said.

The German point of view was significantly stressed in a semi-official statement referring to the fact that Welles' visit coincided with the six months' anniversary of outbreak of the war.

"The Greater Reich is fully satisfied with the course of the war so far," this statement said.

"Germany is conscious of its military superiority and its economic invincibility. The whole Reich confidently awaits the inevitable decision, so eagerly anticipated by the young nations of Europe, especially Fascist Italy.

Decisive Blow Awaited
"German defense forces continue to stand by awaiting the order to strike a decisive blow. The time of this no one knows, but when it comes, it will overshadow all previous military conceptions."

Responsible German quarters, describing the interview which launched Welles' history-making tour of Europe's warring capitals, outlined Von Ribbentrop's argument as follows:

"Until this English tyranny of world trade is ended and freedom of the seas restored, any suggestion of an armistice or summoning a conference around a green-bait table represents waste motion so far as Germany is concerned."

It was generally acknowledged that Hitler himself would re-emphasize this point of view when he receives Welles late tomorrow afternoon.

Reliable spokesmen closely connected with the foreign office said that Von Ribbentrop confronted the American emissary with this blunt question:

"What use is peace if it gives only a brief breathing spell enabling the world powers to race toward some new conflict?"

Welles Listens
These responsible quarters gave no intimation of Welles' reaction to the argument, affording the impression that the American undersecretary of state played only a listening role while Von Ribbentrop expounded his argument.

The foreign minister went into great detail to convince Welles that Germany never could rest content while Britain rules the seas, it was said, citing British sovereignty over such vital points as Malta, Gibraltar and Suez.

Von Ribbentrop spoke hypothetically of possible British suzerainty over the Panama Canal and asked Welles whether the United States would consent to any such procedure, the spokes-

'SMEAR HOOVER' DRIVE BELIEVED 'COMMUNISTIC'

NEW YORK, March 1—Simultaneous development of a "smear" campaign from a half dozen separate sources against J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, bears plain indication that the movement is Communist in part at least, if not actually of Communist origin, the New York Journal-American said in an exclusive story today.

The most recent criticism of Hoover has centered on his presence in Florida at this time. Actually, the story said, Hoover and his agents are in Florida "because they were ordered there by Frank Murphy when he was attorney general before his elevation to the Supreme Court of the United States." The story quotes this statement of Hoover before a

GRIFFITH REFUSES AGAIN TO VOTE 'HAM AND EGGS'

COLUMBUS, March 1—For the second time, Secretary of State Earl Griffith today refused to approve a proposal for a constitutional amendment which would pay $30 a week to unemployed persons over 57 years of age.

In returning the proposed amendment to Edmund A. Lansing, head of the Pension Action Bureau in Cleveland, Griffith declared that errors in the form as well as state and government legislation to aid the unemployed and aged motivated the rejection.

CONGRESS OKEHS PLAN

Executive To Reach Home Saturday After Trip In Panama Region

ABOARD U. S. S. LANG, March 1—President Roosevelt today announced he will sign the $100,000,000 export-import bank bill making possible a $20,000,000 loan to Finland on Saturday immediately on his return to Washington from a vacation cruise.

Advised aboard his vacation ship, the cruiser Tuscaloosa, that congress had passed the measure, the President wirelessly Jesse Jones, RFC head, to proceed at once with loans as the measure provides.

As soon as he was apprised that congress had passed the bill increasing the export-import bank's capital to $100,000,000 and empowering it to lend up to $20,000,000 each to Finland, China and other neutrals, Mr. Roosevelt radioed Jones:

"Have just been advised of final passage of bill extending lending authority of export-import bank. I will sign this bill on Saturday and you may therefore proceed on this basis."

Lifting the veil of secrecy on his itinerary yesterday afternoon, the President announced the Tuscaloosa would arrive at Pensacola about noon today. He will enroute at once for Washington and arrive Saturday afternoon, terminating his 15-day, 4,000 mile vacation cruise. On his jaunt, the President inspected the outer Pacific defenses of the Panama Canal and other hemisphere fortifications.

AT THE CLIFTONA

"Geronimo!"—there was a cry to stop a sturdy heart when, in the days of his glory, that roaring, raging, revengeful savage roamed and raided the Great Southwest he wanted for his own!

"Geronimo!"—there is a motion picture to race your pulse as the exploits of this last great Indian enemy cram the screen with action and romance of giant proportions!

Paramount cast this powerful story now at the Cliftona Theatre with people who know how to play their roles to the hilt. Preston Foster, Ellen Drew, Andy Devine, William Henry, Ralph Morgan and Chief Thunder Cloud contribute vivid portrayals.

With its basis in fact and its fast running faster than fiction, "Geronimo!" brings to the screen a fascinating chapter of American history that begins when the United States ceded from Mexico the land which was to make up the states of New Mexico and Arizona. The Government acquired not only trackless wilds, but a troublesome tribe of Apache Indians unwilling to surrender to the country.

A punitive expedition undertaken by the American Army discovers Geronimo is a relentless and wily foe. It is only after several thrilling battles are fought and unprecedented sabotage is uncovered that Geronimo is taken.

ATHENS COUNTY JURY CONTINUES BRIBERY STUDY

Judge Clifford L. Belt, of Belmont County, who is presiding by assignment, called the jury into court last evening. Foreman Charles Weltzheimer, of Nelsonville, said the jury was not agreed on two of three counts of the joint indictment being considered.

Container Corporation History Dates to 1882

Container Corporation of America, whose operations at Circleville date back to 1882, is one of this area's oldest industries. As successor to the original American Straw Board Company, the company's mill here typifies the ideal industrial enterprise insofar as it utilizes a bumper agricultural produce, wheat straw, for use in the manufacture of an important commercial product, shipping cases.

Headquartered at Chicago, Container Corporation maintains three manufacturing plants in that city, producing paperboard, corrugated and solid fibre shipping containers, and folding cartons. The Company operates mills at Wabash and Carthage, Ind., Philadelphia, Pa., and Wilmington, Del. Its other fabricating units are Natick, Mass., Cleveland and Cincinnati, Ohio, Anderson, Ind., and also at Philadelphia. A new fabricating plant has been recently announced for Rock Island, Ill.

Wood is gathered from its own pine forests in Florida for processing into wood pulp in the Company's Fernandina, Fla., mill. Export operations are carried on from Philadelphia. Ownership of all its sources of raw materials makes the Container Corporation of America the only wholly integrated concern in the paperboard packaging field.

Last year the production of paperboard was something in excess of 400,000 tons from Container's mills, while during that period 390,000 tons of finished products were shipped from its factories, and wood pulp operations produced 150 tons per day. Container Corporation employs about 5,000 persons with an annual payroll above $4,000,000. The Company has consistently adhered to an operating philosophy of decentralization, opening new markets and lowering transportation costs for the consumers of its products.

5,000 Users Served

Container Corporation serves more than 5,000 users of cartons and shipping cases, packaging many of the nation's best known products in every field of manufacturing—foodstuffs, drugs and pharmaceutical supplies, automobile and machinery parts—virtually everything from watches to washing machines.

Container Corporation was organized in 1926 through the consolidation of several constituent companies owning mills, factories or fabricating units. As an industry it draws its raw materials from strictly "surplus" sources: Waste paper gathered in the metropolitan centers just as the local mill utilizes surplus crops of wheat straw from the wheat fields of Indiana, and wood pulp from Florida's vast expanse of pine acreage.

CITY BUYS STERILIZER FOR USE OF HOSPITAL

Circleville Board of Control, comprised of the mayor, safety director and service director, Friday, announced purchase of a new sterilizer for Berger hospital at a cost of $843.75, less an allowance for the hospital's old sterilizer. The purchase was made from the American Sterilizer Co., Erie, Pa. There were three bids.

Karl Herrmann, safety director, said that the company from which the purchase was made is the same one that loaned a sterilizer to the hospital after its other one collapsed.

WIFE OF F. D.'S ELDEST DUE FOR COURT HEARING

LOS ANGELES, March 1—With no opposition expected, Mrs. James Roosevelt was to appear in Los Angeles superior court today and ask for a divorce from the eldest son of the President.

Her husband, from whom she separated more than a year ago after eight years of marriage, was not expected to appear in court, although he filed the original divorce complaint last month. He will be represented by counsel.

Mrs. Roosevelt sought her marital freedom on a cross-complaint in which she charged desertion and cruelty. Roosevelt, in his complaint, charged desertion, alleging that the former Betsey Cushing of Boston refused to live with him in Hollywood where he has become a film producer.

Accompanied by her brother, Henry K. Cushing, Brookline, Mass., insurance broker, and Basil O'Connor, New York attorney, Mrs. Roosevelt was cheerful in the presence of reporters on her arrival yesterday in Los Angeles, but refused to make any comment.

Speaking for his sister, Cushing said: "The matter will be accom-

SPORTSMEN AND FARMERS ASKED TO CONFERENCE

March 6 Meeting Called To Discuss 15-Point Conservation Plan TO PICK DELEGATES

Public Hearings To Be Conducted Later By State Department

In an effort to explain the 15-point program announced by Don Waters, state conservation commissioner, and to select two Pickaway County representatives for the district conservation committee, an open meeting of all farmers and sportsmen in the county will be held at the Court House at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday, March 6.

From each of the seven district committees, two representatives will be selected to act as spokesmen from the district at public hearings conducted by the Conservation and Natural Resources Commission and to attend meetings of the commission to act in an advisory capacity. Selected as county representatives will be one farmer and one sportsman.

"We hope to be able to serve the people in a more efficient manner this way," Mr. Waters stated. "There is no effort on our part to supplant regularly established sportsmen's and farmer's groups, but rather to encourage them, as well as individuals, to participate in these county meetings."

District headquarters will be established to unify the groups and local programs as well as coordinate all the activities of the Division under the direction of a district supervisor.

Frank L. Hard, who will serve as district supervisor for district number 5 of which Pickaway County is a part, will call the meeting to order and turn it over to the officers selected by those attending the meeting. The session will be thrown open to the group so that those attending may have the opportunity of expressing their views of conservation problems.

CHILLICOTHEA N S TO TEST SURVEY OF CITY TRAFFIC

CHILLICOTHE, March 1—The new traffic code for the city based on findings made recently in a survey by W. J. Knight received the recommendation of a six month trial by the Planning Commission.

Enactment of a trial ordinance by the city council received the unanimous favor of the commission. The experts survey suggested: Rerouting U. S. 23 through the city; restrict Water Street to one way traffic; provide one way traffic in uptown alleys; provide by-passes for heavy trucking; reallocate city bus loading zones. Other provisions would deal with parking and placing of taxicab stands.

The new traffic code will be framed and submitted to the city council.

ALLISON ENTERS RACE FOR STATE SECRETARY JOB

COLUMBUS, March 1—M. Ray Allison, of Columbus, former state finance director and assistant secretary of state, announced today he would be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Secretary of State at the May 14 primary.

Allison, a native of Westville, Champaign County, said he had been prompted to make the announcement by "friendly words of encouragement from many sections of the state."

He served as assistant secretary of state from 1933 to 1935, when he was appointed finance head by former Gov. Martin L. Davey. He was nominated by the Democratic party for attorney general in 1930 but was defeated by Gilbert Bettman, of Cincinnati.

If elected, Allison promised that he would "fervently hold with all the force the office commands that in Ohio there shall be a free 'right of referendum' and an impartial conduct of elections."

"In seeking nomination and election to the office of Secretary of State, I offer my candidacy unhindered by partisan factions," Allison said.

ROTARIANS HEAR DISCUSSION OF RECENT SERIES

Miss Alice Ada May, North Scioto Street, guest speaker at the Rotary Club's luncheon Thursday, reviewed her impressions of the club's Institute For Better International Understanding series.

She analyzed her opinion of each of the four speakers that appeared on the platform during the series and their individual plans for world peace, ethnic groups, economic trade units, cultural alignments, and one speaker who had no plan to offer.

Then Miss May concluded her speech by outlining her own plan to keep America out of war and the policy she thought the nation should follow: 1) Stay out of European. 2) Send the European democracies all the things they need even if the United States is not paid for them. 3) Mend "our own fences" here. 4) Remember America's obligation to keep democracy alive.

She stressed the last point for the maintenance of our American heritage of the Bill of Rights and the Constitution.

HIGH SCHOOL DEBATORS WIN AT COLUMBUS WEST

The affirmative debating team of Circleville High School, comprised of Leland Siegwald and Paul Turner, won a contest Thursday from the Columbus West High team on: "Resolved: That the Government Should Own and Operate the Railroads." The match was staged at West.

The victory gives the Circleville debaters a 50-50 break in league competition, the team coached by Samuel R. Johnson being a member of District I of the Ohio Speech League.

OHIO STATE FAIR INCORPORATION MOVE STARTED

COLUMBUS, March 1—A plan to incorporate the Ohio State Fair, which has lost money for 19 of the last 20 years, today met with the approval of Governor Bricker.

"I am in sympathy with making the fair a permanent corporation not subject to change with every administration," he said of the plan submitted by a special advisory council.

If the action is taken, it must be approved by the legislature. The governor said the matter would be placed before a special session if one were called.

The advisory council also reported that the physical properties of the fair had degenerated "to an alarming degree." They suggested that, through incorporation, the fair could be placed on a business basis, and make enough money for its own upkeep and necessary improvements.

Means suggested for off-season revenue included the building of a dormitory for Ohio State University students, and the rental of space to some state departments.

TEEGARDINS STRENGTHEN THEIR BERKSHIRE HERD

At the Ohio Berkshire Breeders Association Sale held at London, C. B. Teegardin & Sons, Ashville, further strengthened their herd of Berkshires by the purchase of the top sow of the offering. She was Conner's Queen Mae 4th, consigned by Conner's Prairie Farm, Noblesville, Indiana. She is bred to Conner's Renown, the grand champion boar at the 1939 Ohio State Fair.

Teegardin also purchased an aged sow, Miss Eliminator Girl, regarded generally by breeders as the best individual offered in any sale this year. She is bred to the second prizes junior yearling boar at the 1939 Ohio State Fair, standing next to the grand champion boar of the show.

DAVEY HINTS HE MAY RUN AGAIN FOR GOVERNOR

KENT, March 1—Former Gov. Martin L. Davey announced from his Kent home today that he had been "seriously considering" running for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination but that he would not make a definite decision until next Wednesday.

"Any rumors or published statements to the effect that I will not be a candidate are the results of idle-guesswork or wishful thinking," Davey said. "The fact is that I have been seriously considering it but have not reached a final decision."

The statement did not come as a surprise to political leaders and observers. They pointed out that Davey had postponed making his intentions clear until he was certain of the plans of U. S. Sen. Vic Donahey.

(Donahey announced in Washington several days ago that he would decide his political future this week and would announce publicly Sunday whether he would be a candidate for re-election or retire from public service.)

In his brief statement, Davey declined to explain his delay. It was believed, however, that he was waiting to decide whether to seek renomination for another term as governor or run for U. S. senator if Donahey didn't run again.

"Out of consideration for the many thousands of inquiries," Davey's statement read, "I feel that it is only fair to make the following" brief statement. It is my present intention to make a definite announcement as to the question of being a candidate for governor by the middle of next week. The reasons for withholding announcement until that time are sound and sufficient."

YORK STREET YOUTH IN JAIL ON THEFT CHARGE

Lee Adams, 24, York Street, was sent to the county jail Thursday night when he failed to post a $1,000 bond after his hearing before Mayor William Cady. Adams was charged with breaking into the smoke house of Frank Karshner, Route 1, Circleville, and stealing an automobile radiator which he sold to a Circleville firm for $1. He is being held on a charge of breaking and entering rather than petty larceny.

DELINQUENCY DOWN

WILMINGTON, March 1—Probate Judge Hugh J. Wright reported a decrease of juvenile delinquency in Clinton County of one-third in the last two and one-half years. He attributed this decline to the better supervised playgrounds and playground equipment, more active Boy Scout campaigns and other youth agencies.

TO THE MONDAY CLUB

FRIENDS: Fifty years ago a band of earnest women decided to form an association for the purpose of improving their minds. They met bi-monthly, adopted a constitution and elected officers. Realizing that in union there is strength they continued the good work—and work they did—beginning at the culture of Greece they included most of the known world. How they studied. In those early days each member was prepared to answer any question asked by the leader. There were only about twenty members and rarely was any one absent from a meeting, rain or shine found them in their place eager to tell all they knew. After a lapse of time they decided to add new members and the quota was raised to thirty. As many were eager to join the ranks, the quota was again raised to one hundred; even then there was a long waiting list. At this time it seemed advisable to divide the club members into sections, each section choosing the topic preferred for study. The music section was added and has proved a rare delight, treating the members to music which many could not hear elsewhere. Outside talent was invited and the club listened delightedly to a number of fine lectures. Nor did they forget the lighter side of life. Once a year a social session was held and a fine program was furnished to relieve the monotony of too much seriousness. Of the original members only four are left in the town, Mrs. C. E. Groce, Mrs. Howard Jones, Miss Nell Weldon and Miss Elizabeth Renick. A few more live in distant cities and are loyal to their first love. The Monday Club has borne its share in the life of Circleville. It has not exclusively devoted itself to the study of history or biography. The program of work made out by a committee appointed by the club makes out the program for the year's work. This is followed carefully to the great benefit of the individual members.

TO CIVIC-MINDED

FOLK: Today is a great one in Circleville because announcement is being made of the success of the campaign to obtain funds for High School band uniforms. The total of money received is amazing; it surprised even those who went into the campaign with the most optimistic views. And now our band can take its place beside those of other cities. For a long while our organization of youngsters has been equally capable when compared with organizations of other cities of our size, but their equipment and attire has been of the nattiest type. Orchids go to all who participated in the campaign and to all who contributed to make it a success. And, above all, a very special orchid should go to the American Legion Auxiliary from whence the idea came that started the campaign. There are a good many of us who can hardly wait until the band boys and girls swing into action about Memorial Day, or maybe before, in their new uniforms. I wish, too, to congratulate those responsible for the testimonial banquet for Charles F. Zaenglein, director of the band. The many tributes paid to him were stated with sincerity, and, too, the dinner helped to swell the band uniform fund. There is more money in the campaign treasury now than is needed for suits, but a reserve can always be used and then there may be several instruments that would help the band. Regardless of what is done with the money, it will be used to the best advantage.

TO BASKETBALL TEAMS

ASHVILLE, DARBY: Boys and girls of the aforementioned schools should be proud that they were able to win county basketball championships in a tournament that was as outstanding as any seen in Pickaway County in a good many years. Congratulations go to all who participated on the winning teams and to their coaches for producing such outstanding organizations. The tournament produced surprises and upsets just as have others in days gone by, with favorites, as usual, failing to survive the heated play of underdog opponents. In the class of favorites before the tournament started were Pickaway boys and New Holland girls, both with perfect records for the season. It was too bad that either had to lose, but those things happen in our county tournament. The show was a financial success, the playing court provided proved to be an excellent one for the athletes and all facilities were excellent. The management of the event and officials of the Atlanta school are to be congratulated for doing a splendid job.

TO MOTORISTS

DRIVERS: This warning, which is perennial, should be heeded by all of you who own automobiles. GET YOUR 1940 LICENSE PLATES EARLY AND AVOID THE RUSH. Regardless of just how often the warning is issued there are still some financially able to do so who do not buy their new tags until the last day, forcing a crush at the license bureau which inconveniences many persons. Tags are being sold today, but you cannot put them on your automobiles until March 10. They must be put on before April 1. Remember that it is imperative that you take your guarantees of title with you when applying for license tags. If you remember this you will be saving some time and embarrassment because the tag dispensers are not permitted to issue plates unless you can prove that the automobile you are driving belongs to you. Tag offices are located in Circleville, Ashville, Williamsport, New Holland and Commercial Point for the convenience of all in the county. Don't delay: get your tags as soon as convenient.

WORLD AT A GLANCE

ON LINCOLN'S BIRTHDAY, the Democratic party organization got a sample of the kind of Republican attack it will have to deal with during the coming political campaign. Democratic leaders aren't admitting for publication that the Republicans' initial barrage gave them anything to worry about. Confidentially, however, their chats are to the effect that Lincoln Day performance foreshadows a fight for which they must tighten their lines. They must realize that the Republicans' Lincoln Day blow-out knocked their Jackson Day affair into a cocked hat. Jackson Day festivities weren't prepared for on a major scale. There were some big banquets, but they were social events rather than popular rallies. They weren't publicized capably, either before they were held or after ward. Their avowed purpose was to raise money for Democratic campaign activities. A $35 dinner at from $25 to $100 per plate isn't calculated to draw a crowd of average voters. Their speeches were good, but not particularly thrilling. Moreover, Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg (R) didn't do the celebration much good by reminding the country that the Democrats' original Jackson Day celebration, back in Old Hickory's time, was to signalize the extinction of Uncle Sam's national indebtedness—now, under a Democratic administration, approaching 45 billions.

AS TO LINCOLN DAY!

Compare Jackson Day with Lincoln Day.

The Jackson-ites had eight to 10 notable talkers throughout the country.

The Lincoln-ites had 800 to 1,000. They included some "big guns"—Ex-President Hoover, Ex-Governor Landon, Tom Dewey, Vandenberg, Senator Bob Taft, Congressman Joe Martin and plenty of governors, besides lots of local celebrities.

Republican oratory, in fact, was so copious that the radio couldn't carry all of it. It couldn't be listened to all around. Interested folk had to read a lot of it in the next morning's newspapers. Probably they DIDN'T read all of it. Just the same, the newspapers had three or four pages of Lincoln Day stuff in comparison with three or four columns of Jackson Day Rooseveltianism & Co.

In short, Lincoln Day made a good deal more of a "splash" than Jackson Day did.

There's another consideration. An offensive is a deal more snappy than a defensive is: Lincoln Day was OFFensive; Jackson Day was DE-fensive.

But, aside from all that, the Republicans' management was better than the Democrats'. They furnished a better show than the Democrats did.

DEMO SPLIT

As everybody knows, it's up to the Democrats to repair another of their fundamental weaknesses. They're split. They're New Dealers and anti-New Dealers. The Republicans are pretty solid.

It's been illustrated by these two sets of anniversaries. Republican sentiment is all down the same alley. Democrats are down two different alleys. Some Democrats are almost Republicans. Some Republicans can almost get along with some Democrats.

But they're partisanly divided. There ought to be two new parties, of course.

But there won't be two new groups on rational lines. They'll be political.

I wish there could be two parties. But there ain't—anywhere on earth.

It would be possible to decide between 'em. It ain't.

They just don't split evenly. There may be two parties—a liberal and a conservative, but not two parties, as such.

..... There I was, watching my hat and coat, when all of a sudden

DIET AND HEALTH

Ideal Figure? There Isn't Any!

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

What are the measurements for the ideal female figure about which so much is written in the magazines lately?

There is no ideal female figure and no measurements. The measurements taken by the WPA are for the purpose of standardizing measurements for dresses and should not be taken as a concept of perfection. Figures differ with body types.

A false standard of the female figure is set up in fashion plates.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Tall, languid, feeble figures, very much too long in the leg and all apparently in the early stages of galloping consumption, tend to mislead, to their hurt, young women who would rather be dead than not in the fashion.

Proper Diet for Irritable Colon

What is a diet for chronic colitis?

Chronic colitis of the non-infectious type would better be called "irritable colon." Low carbohydrate alone, however, is not the only or most important part of the treatment.

Bowel-conscious patients require frequent assurance that a daily evacuation is not essential or even normal under certain circumstances of diet, and that cathartics are never necessary. In patients who have been whipping the bowel with cathartics, a period of apparent constipation will naturally follow their withdrawal. After giving up a long habit of cathartics, if the bowel has not evacuated by the fourth day, an oil retention enema can be given.

The fallacy of auto-intoxication must be explained away and the fear of poisoning from excessive meat intake be allayed. "Constipation headache" should be explained on a reflex basis rather than as being due to poisoning.

CHAPTER FORTY-THREE

CHRISTMAS week dawned clear and crisp, but the weather man promised snow. Cissie took her staff out to Johnny Cake Hill and opened the great old Harlowe mansion early one morning.

In the afternoon when Romany drove Cholly out in her new car, the place was a bedlam of servants, caterers and deliverymen.

Cissie was in seventh heaven, dressed in slacks, directing the cutting of trees and boughs in the woods back of the estate. She rode in on a truckload of them, waving to Romany, waiting for her on the front veranda.

"Oh, Tannenbaum, oh, Tannenbaum," she sang gayly. "I've been wishing you girls would hurry. You should see the big tree in the front room. I'm dying to start in on it."

It reached to the ceiling of the great old beamed room. On the other end crackled a great log fire, and the place smelled like a forest. Romany and Cholly hurried into slacks at Cissie's suggestion. They decorated until dinner time, then, after pausing long enough to dine, went back to their task until midnight. When they had finished, the great room was a fairyland of lights and boughs. Clusters of mistletoe hung over all the doors and holly lent color and charm to the windows.

The afternoon before Christmas Eve, Cecelia called Romany at Interstate, where she was rehearsing. "I want you to drive out and bring that writer friend of yours for the party, darling. If he spurns us again, let me know and I'll come in and get him myself."

Romany hesitated. "Do you really think I should, Cissie? I wouldn't want him to think I'm chasing him."

"You do as I say," Cecelia laughed. "Don't telephone him a warning so he can duck. A Halle always gets her man!"

Dover was driving Cholly out to Cissie's farm, so Romany set out for South Shore drive, not without trepidation. It wasn't easy to throw yourself at a man's head when he hadn't even as much as called you on the phone since the night he first kissed you weeks before.

A little breathless Romany rang the bell and, when the buzzer sounded, she sighed with relief. Bax was home. She ran up the stairs and again, as he had done when she called before, Bax stepped back with surprise.

"Oh," he smiled crookedly, "it's you, Glamor Gal. This IS a surprise."

"It shouldn't be," Romany walked inside and Bax closed the door. "It's getting to be quite a habit."

"May I have your mink?" She noticed that his face was thinner, with a little pang.

"Aunt Cecelia's mink," Romany corrected him with an uncertain little smile. "No, I won't take it off. I've come to carry you off to the country. Aunt Cissie is having some of the radio crowd out for the holiday, and she ordered me to come and bring you."

Bax hesitated. "I'm sorry, Romany, but I'm afraid I can't."

Romany walked over to him swiftly and put her hand on his arm.

"Bax," she faltered, "please come. Bob Lane told me you are going away. You mustn't go without meeting Aunt Cissie. She has read your scripts and she's crazy about them. She wants to meet you so much."

It sounded silly and childish. Romany knew suddenly, and she flushed a deep pink.

"Besides," she added, raising her head and looking into his questioning brown eyes, "I want you to come."

"Do you?" Bax cupped her soft chin in his hand. "Will you please tell me why, Romany? Why do you bother with me? Is it because you feel sorry for me? You're on top—and I am on the bottom."

She cried out sharply: "Stop, Bax. Of course it's not that. Oh, will you stop being a fool and put some things in a bag and come out to Johnny Cake Hill with me before I scream?"

Baxter was completely bewildered by her vehemence. He grinned.

"Okay, Glamor Gal. You win." Romany sighed, relieved, and walked to the door.

"I'll wait for you in the car," she turned, her hand on the knob. "It's won't take long," Bax told her. "I'm leaving for New York tomorrow night and I've a pullman bag all ready."

In ten minutes Bax joined Romany in the front of the apartment. He whistled when he saw the new maroon roadster.

"I presume the new bus is yours," he grinned.

Romany nodded. "Aunt Cissie's Christmas present. Would you like to drive?"

"Sure. It's been a long time since I've enjoyed the luxury of having my hands on the wheel of a car. Which way do we go?"

Romany gave him the directions. They had driven but a few blocks when snow began to fall. They were lovely, downy flakes that stayed where they fell and did not seem to be melting.

"Oh," Romany sighed happily, "isn't it lovely? Cissie has been praying for a white Christmas."

"It should be perfect," Bax relaxed deeper into the seat. "I'm afraid I'm going to have a good time. Wouldn't it be terrible?"

"I should think so," Romany looked at him sidewise. "You've been enjoying being morbid and sorry for yourself for so long. I'm surprised you have any friends left. Or have you?"

"Only brunettes. The blonds and the red-heads have all given me up as a bad job. But I haven't meant to be rude, Romany. I've been writing like the devil, hoping to do something that would click. I've even done some short stories and started on a full-length novel."

Romany said, pleased: "Oh, that's lovely. I'm sure you'll sell them."

"I doubt it," Bax gripped the wheel. "But at least it keeps a guy from going off the deep end to work at something. Who is coming to the party?" he asked then, changing the subject.

"Cissie has invited a lot of people to drop in. I imagine it'll be sort of a mad house tomorrow. Tonight Dover is coming out to see Charlotte, of course. And Brent Nelson and Hal Trotter, the director, will stay over night and tomorrow."

"Oh!" Bax pretended to be having difficulty seeing through the rapidly falling snow. "Nelson is in town for Christmas, too?"

"Yes," Romany nodded. "He has a broadcast tomorrow."

"Of course—Bax managed a grin—"we would assume that the snow would be around for the holiday."

Romany was silent, averting her face. Bax looked ahead.

"I presume everything is about all set for a June wedding. Or will it be sooner?"

"Nothing is all set," Romany said firmly. "I'm not engaged to Brent yet, Bax."

"Not—yet. Then you mean you will—don't know," Romany said uncertainly. "I really don't know, Bax. Turn here," she directed.

"This is Johnny Cake Hill. See the lights of the house through the trees?"

She was glad to drop the subject of Brent Nelson and her engagement or marriage. The subject was as painful to Bax, but he had wanted to know the truth. As they stopped in the driveway, Bax touched her cheek fleetingly with his lips.

"That's for Christmas," His face was close and white. "And I still say if it were possible for me to get in the running, I'd use up a little of the time that Nelson guy is taking too much of."

A servant came out to take the car and Aunt Cissie stood in the great front door. There was no time to answer, but Romany's heart was beating with a queer relief.

"Merry Christmas," Aunt Cissie called gaily, welcoming them to the Hill. "I see you corralled him, Romany."

The tall, thin young man with the sensitive, brilliant face looked down at her, blinking with astonishment.

"So this is Aunt Cissie? I thought you were an old lady! Romany didn't tell me she had a twin."

His face relaxed into a grin and Cissie decided in a flash, looking quickly from her niece to him, that they were in love. It was there in their faces, for anyone to see. She smiled.

100 Guests At Rader Home for Ladies' Aid

Emmett's Chapel Unit Conducts Meeting

Approximately 100 guests gathered in the home of Mrs. Burr H. Rader of Pickaway Township, Thursday, for the delightful anagram party arranged by the Ladies' Aid Society of Emmett's Chapel. Mrs. Rader was assisted by her daughter, Miss Gladys Rader, of the home.

Players were present from Washington C. H., Chillicothe, Ashville, Kingston, Circleville and the vicinity.

Tables were placed throughout the rooms of the home, anagrams being played on the first floor and Chinese checkers, on the second.

Anniversary Meeting

In honor of the third anniversary of the first Baha'i meeting in Circleville, the local Baha'i Group held a covered dish supper Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. J. O. Eagleson, North Pickaway Street.

The program for the evening consisted in a study of the subject, "Our Economic Problem," conducted by Mrs. W. W. Robinson. The divine plan for world civilization was discussed, bringing out the thought that only through friendly consultation, cooperation and love can the problems of today be solved.

As the climax for the program, the leader reviewed "The Supreme Affliction," by Alfred E. Lunt. Definite constructive principles were given, such as unity, balance of wealth, adjustment of agriculture as a basic industry, curtailment of military expenditure, and the establishment of a universal language.

The Baha'i plan, Mrs. Robinson brought out, was one of equilibrium and moderation. She closed with the following quotation from the writings of Abdul-Baha: "The secrets of the whole economic question are divine in nature and are concerned with the world of the heart and spirit."

Out-of-town guests for the evening were Mrs. Flora Magley, Miss Charlotte Lindenberg and Mrs. Florence Reeb, of Columbus.

HENRY TO SEEK WORLD'S MARK IN GARCIA GO

LOS ANGELES, March 1—World's Welterweight Champion Henry Armstrong will be out to realize his long cherished ambition to become the only pugilist ever to have held four world titles when he takes on Ceferino Garcia, New York-California champion, tonight for the middleweight crown.

The wagering, however, indicated that Garcia will rule a 6 to 5 favorite at ringside.

The distance is 10 rounds, the estimated attendance 30,000, the hoped-for gate receipts close to $100,000, scaled from $1 to $10. The referee was a commission secret until today at noon, when Chairman Jerry Giesler meets with the other four members of the State Athletic Commission to make the selection.

Fair weather was predicted.

TEDDY YAROSZ WINNER IN CLEVELAND MATCH

CLEVELAND, March 1—Teddy Yarosz, former middleweight champion, today chalked up a 10-round victory over Cleveland's Willie Muldine. It was the fifth straight victory for the Pittsburgh battler.

In another 10-round match, Buddy Knox, battling heavyweight from Dayton, O., outslugged Jorge Brescia of the Argentine to gain his third straight Cleveland victory. Knox took all but two rounds of the match.

Two Canton, O., fighters were disposed of in short order in the preliminaries. Chet Esmond, Canton light heavyweight, was dropped in the second round by Mickey Dugan, and Joe Forchione, Canton featherweight, was put to sleep in 35 seconds by Joe Wells of Cleveland.

FIRST INFELD PRACTICE ON SCHEDULE FOR INDIANS

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 1—With training sessions lasting little over an hour each day, Manager Oscar Vitt of the Cleveland Indians said today that the team will get its first infield practice tomorrow.

The Deacon, who said Moore's early workouts led him to believe he would become one of the 1940 greats in the National League, also had a pat on the back for the moundwork of Walters, VanderMeer, and Berringer, who already show mid-season control.

Tigers Go Down To Defeat After Brilliant Fight

Little Red And Black Boys Throw Scare Into Mt. Vernon Camp, But Superior Size Does Trick; Halftime Ends 27 To 20

Circleville High's "poor little boys," who looked like eighth graders beside Mount Vernon's veteran and mighty varsity, threw a scare into the camp of the Yellowjackets Thursday evening in Central District basketball competition at Delaware before going down to a 57-37 defeat.

Mount Vernon, rated as the team to beat in the district, put a splendid five on the floor, one that broke fast, one that was tall and one that could hit from almost any place on the court. All Circleville had was a gang of kids that didn't know the meaning of the word "quit." The youngsters mentored by Roy Black played right along with Mount Vernon in the first half, although trailing 9-13 at the quarter and 20-27 at halftime. The score midway in the second period was tied at 17-17, but after that the Red and Black couldn't catch up.

Crowd Changes Mind
A crowd that was for the brilliant Mount Vernon team at the start of the game was amazed by

SCOTS ASSURED OF CONFERENCE BASKET HONORS

COLUMBUS, March 1—Wooster today was certain of the Ohio Conference basketball crown by virtue of a 40-24 win over Oberlin. The Scots now have a record of 13 wins and losses in league tilts. Even should they drop tomorrow night's melee with the Muskingum cagers, they would have a better record, with 13 wins against one loss as against the Muskies' 12 wins and one loss.

However, the high-flying, high-scoring Scots will enter the game favorites, and are expected to end their season with 14 straight wins. Muskingum has been tripped only once in its 12 starts to date, however, and may prove slightly more than just trouble-some.

A Muskie win would do other queer things to the standings. Toledo, discounted as a conference leader because of its scant schedule, might claim the crown on a percentage basis. The Maumee City lads have played neither Wooster nor Muskingum—have played few Conference teams at all, in fact.

Yet they possess a record of four wins and no losses—a perfect if somewhat scanty record in any language. Few persons would consider them in the running—but they must be considered as having a technical claim to top honors in the event of a Wooster defeat.

Hence it behooves the Scots to bestir themselves and not take Muskingum too lightly. It was taking one opponent too lightly that spoiled the Muskies record and removed tomorrow night's game from billing as the best Conference tilt in a decade.

OVER-AMBITIOUS BEAVER

EUGENE, Ore.—An ambitious beaver was credited with disrupting light and power service to the Thurston district of Eugene when it gnawed through a tree, which fell, severing a power line.

the scrap put up by the tiny Tigers and before the game had progressed far cheers were going up for the Circleville lads.

Of all the teams that appeared on the court Thursday evening Mount Vernon was the only one that appeared as a certainty to turn back the Tigers. Grove City knocked off Delaware Willis, 30-24; Marion Harding won from Columbus North, 29-26, and Columbus Aquinas eliminated London, 43-31, and the Red and Black the way it played Thursday could have taken at least five of these teams into camp and would have given the Marion crew a game to remember. The luck of the draw pitted the Tigers against the Mount Vernon boys, so Circleville's season is ended.

After leading only seven points at halftime, Mount Vernon turned on in the third to run up 20 points against six for a 47-26 lead at the three-quarter pole. With three minutes remaining and the score 55-29 both coaches sent in second teams. The Red and Black boys completely outplayed the Mount Vernon seconds, getting eight points against two in the last three minutes. Carr, Callihan and Gelb hit the hoop on consecutive shots and the latter connected again from the corner just as the game ended.

The score published in morning papers did not credit Circleville with its last field goal, although the official book of Jim Scott, Wesleyan coach, did.

Splendid Season Ends
The game closed the best basketball season Circleville has had in a good many years. Ten games were won and 10 lost by the varsity and 15 were won and four lost by the reserves. Coach Black loses Harold Smith, Henry Davis, Jr., Paul Walters and Robert Bowsher from his first five, but Joe Staley, who will likely appear at a forward next year, will be back and so will all five of the second team boys, Callihan and Martin being juniors now and Carr, Valentine and Gelb being sophomores.

CROWD JOINS IN TESTIMONIAL BANQUET IN HONOR OF C. F. ZAENGLEIN

TRIBUTES PAID TO MEMBER OF SCHOOL FACULTY

Announcement Is Made That Band Uniform Fund Goes Over The Top

MANY PERSONS SPEAK Checks From Odd Fellows And Ted Lewis Received And Presented

Two hundred and thirty-six citizens of Circleville gathered in Memorial Hall Thursday night to pay tribute to Charles F. Zaenglein for his 23 years of service to the schools of the city.

Fred Clark, speaking as a representative of the citizens of the city, lauded Mr. Zaenglein for the music which "he provided for the greater enjoyment of life." Terming the guest of honor as "one of the six-hardest working men in the city," Frank Fischer, superintendent of Circleville schools, told Mr. Zaenglein that his long years of work have not gone unappreciated.

The good will which has been created between Circleville and the surrounding communities for which the music teacher was greatly responsible was stressed by Robert Colville, county treasurer. Colville who acted as treasurer for the Band Uniform Fund had the pleasure of adding that the necessary amount of money to outfit the band had been acquired. Mrs. Lillian Moore of the school board expressed the wishes of the community for Mr. Zaenglein's continued success.

All Applaud Guest When Mr. Zaenglein was introduced by the toastmaster, the Rev. Robert Kelsey, everyone in the hall rose to his feet and applauded and cheered in a brilliant spontaneous demonstration.

Speaking briefly, Mr. Zaenglein said that it all appeared as though it were a dream and too good to be true. He thanked everyone for the sacrifices that they have made to put the drive for funds over the top and he asked that the students who have helped make the musical organizations of the city may not be forgotten. Above all, he wanted the people of Circleville to be proud of the student musicians.

John D. Hummel thanked the fraternal groups of the city for their contributions to the fund and for their cooperation in making the drive a success. He then presented a check of $50 to be added to the fund as a contribution of the Circleville lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows.

A letter of good wishes and a check for $50 from Ted Lewis was read and presented to the fund by Mr. Clark. Ted wrote of the days when he played with the Circleville band and said that he hoped it became the great organization that everyone wishes it to be.

Rev. L. C. Sherburne, rector of the Episcopal Church, offered the invocation before dinner.

POLICE CHARGE HIT-RUN DRIVER AS MURDERER

CHICAGO, March 1—Police charged today that 5-year-old Beverly Joan Frank, her body crushed by a hit-and-run driver, was carted to a cold garage while still living by the driver and left alone under a tarpaulin to die.

They charged that Walter H. Bradshaw, 44, a butcher shop owner, admitted he hid the body of the girl and calmly left it to return to his meat shop because he was worried about whether his 18-year-old son "could handle the afternoon rush."

The girl was struck down in front of her home. Police said Bradshaw picked up her body, carried it away in his car and hid it beneath an old overcoat and a tarpaulin on the floor of his garage.

Physicians who examined the body said they were certain the girl was alive when she was left on the cold garage floor. Police quoted Bradshaw as saying:

"My son was alone in the market. He's young and I was worried whether he could handle the afternoon rush."

"I intended to watch the papers and see where the little girl lived. Then when I closed my shop at

Refugee Suicide

CAREER of Nina Tallini, refugee musical comedy star of the Viennese stage, ends in New York by suicide. The actress, who had been under treatment for a mental disorder since arriving from Latvia four weeks ago, leaves a husband and a son. The husband reportedly was a wealthy manufacturer before exile.

FIVE MORE DEAD IN SACRAMENTO VALLEY FLOODS

SAN FRANCISCO, March 1—A new break in the swollen Sacramento River claimed at least five additional lives today while levee crews waged an exhausting battle against the devastating effects of northern California's worst flood in years.

The flood death toll mounted to nine when the river crashed through the center bypass four miles south of Meridian, releasing a wall of water that spilled over 35,000 acres of richly fertile farm land.

A mother and her four children, rescue workers reported, were trapped in an automobile and drowned in the new flood. The husband and father, F. Sheardy, was hurled out of the car, and grasped a tree and managed to hang on until rescuers arrived.

Immediately after the bypass collapsed under the terrific pressure of the cresting river, rescue operations were launched simultaneously at Colusa and Marysville. Trucks and automobiles were mobilized at Colusa and rushed to the newly-stricken area to aid 1,500 persons in reaching higher ground.

The disaster committee of the Yuba-Sutter American Legion post at Marysville issued a call for all available boats to proceed to the Meridian district.

Four other persons were known to have perished yesterday, an estimated 5,000 others were homeless and damage to crops and property ran into millions in widely separated flood areas.

While the flood waned in the Upper Sacramento Valley, several crucial battles were being waged against the rampaging Sacramento River to save rich agricultural land in the middle valley from inundation.

RATCLIFF CHILD DIES

Funeral services will be Saturday at 10 a. m. in the Whitel Funeral Home, Kingston, for Milton Emerson Ratcliff, two month old son of Mr. and Mrs. Burton Ratcliff. The Ratcliff family lives on the Kreisel farm in Pickaway Township. Besides the parents, the child is survived by a brother and sister and its paternal grandparents.

Father Coughlin seems to have been, as you might say, a little too radioactive.

MINISTER TELLS WELLES TROOPS READY TO STRIKE

(Continued from Page One) man said. In this connection, Von Ribbentrop referred to American annoyance over British seizure and inspection of mails at Bermuda, and cited this as an example of the British world hegemony that Germany is attempting to end.

The Reich is just as much entitled as the United States to refuse further recognition of Britain's "world monopoly," Von Ribbentrop said.

Throughout the interview, Von Ribbentrop approached Europe's problem from the "American angle," placing great emphasis on the argument presented by the Berlin newspaper Boersen Zeitung that Germany has "Monroe Doctrine" rights in Central Europe.

Rights Not Recognized

The war, he said, resulted from England's refusal to recognize these rights and her attempts to pauperize Germany and other countries of the European continent by means of economic sanctions and blockades.

Berlin spokesmen said that Welles left the Wilhelmstrasse fully impressed with the unshakable Nazi determination to achieve a "Germanic peace" and convinced of Germany's intention to fight the war through to victory.

It was made clear to him, it was said, that any effort to bring about a compromise peace had but slim chance of success and that if the United States itself were willing to mediate, Germany would ask:

"What can America do to guarantee a just and lasting peace? What assurances can be given that Britain will renounce her stranglehold on the balance of the world if an armistice is signed?"

Welles said nothing and gave no indication of his personal reaction to the interview when he left the foreign office with Alexander Kirk, American charge d'affaires, at 2:30 p. m.

ARTILLERY FIRE BREAKS OUT ON WESTERN FRONT

PARIS, March 1—An artillery duel broke out on the Lauter sector of the Western Front today after French guns dispersed several German patrols reconnoitering in that area.

The activity was described as follows by the official French war communiqué:

"A quiet night on the whole. There were patrols and firing activity in the region of Lauter."

News of the German ground scouting activity and the dispersal of the Nazis was contained in military reports to Paris.

In addition, it was disclosed that a sharp engagement occurred early yesterday between French and German patrols east of the Moselle River and that each side suffered losses. The French casualties were light, however, it was stated.

Today there were the usual front-line aviation activities but no combats developed. One German plane penetrated deep over east-west France.

"The attorney general last spring saw fit to direct that the FBI make an extensive survey of conditions in that (Florida) area and find out why it was that some of the most vicious hoodlums in the country could proceed there and operate with such complete immunity and without interference from the authorities."

Developing the Communistic angle, the story said:

"Last February 6, a group of Communist top men from the entire nation met in Washington. One of that group was a New York City Communist who has frequently been a candidate for office on the Communist ticket."

"How to stop the FBI" was the principal discussion topic. 'Aid from congressmen' was one suggestion and 'pressure in high places' was another.

"The abortive backfiring of the forged letters in the 'smear Dies' effort was still fresh in their minds. They wanted no repetition of that. So the safer, more generally accepted red tactic of attacking through the vast network of the communist publications set-up was resorted to."

At the same time alarming reports came from the far northern Polar Front where the Russians were said to have used the winter lull to prepare for a large-scale offensive which is now developing slowly but inexorably.

Divisions Move To South

Latest estimates said that at least two full Russian divisions—about 40,000 men—now are rolling southward near the Nautsi region, where the Finns have retired to strong defenses.

Doubt was expressed, however, that the Finns would be able to hold the Russians, and officials in Helsinki admitted they considered the situation grave.

Military dispatches said the battle outside Viborg was raging with "terrible violence" and that Russian reinforcements were constantly arriving at the front.

The Finns were reported defending their positions with grim determination and were said to have retired to their latest prepared position in good order. The Russians so far have failed to score a clean breakthrough through the Mannerheim Line, authorities maintained.

Circleville's campaign for funds with which to buy 50 new High School band uniforms was far over the top Friday as the drive was completed. Frank Fischer, superintendent of schools, reported that the total fund collected amounted to $2,454.49, almost double the $1,250 established as the goal when the campaign started.

Mr. Fischer said that the uniforms will be purchased as soon as possible, and he declared that there is a possibility that some of the money may be used to outfit the Junior band which appears for various functions.

The C. F. Zaenglein testimonial dinner conducted Thursday evening put $107.30 into the treasury and numerous contributions made in the last week swelled the fund to its present high mark. Contributions previously published in The Daily Herald total $1,126.72 and a new list adds $1,327.77 making the total of $2,454.49.

Selection Being Made
The selection of new uniforms is in the hands of a committee which includes Mr. Zaenglein, Robert G. Colville, Miss Elma Rains of the High School faculty, and Mrs. Allen Thornton of the American Legion Auxiliary.

'FLU' EPIDEMIC HITS NUMEROUS COLUMBUS FOLK

COLUMBUS, March 1 — An influenza epidemic, described by Dr. Nelson Dysart, city health commissioner, as being five times as bad as that of last year, was rampant in Columbus today.

Dr. Dysart revealed that 11 city physicians were busy day and night on "flu" cases. He based his estimate of the seriousness of the epidemic on the physicians reports as no official figures were available.

Warm, wet weather after a cold snap was held to be a contributing factor to the spread of the disease.

'Scarlett', 'Mr. Chips' Win Film Academy's Major Honors for '39

Vivien Leigh
"Gone With the Wind"

Robert Donat
"Goodbye, Mr. Chips"

Half Of Available Awards Presented To 'Gone' Show

HOLLYWOOD, March 1—Gay and irrepressible Hollywood was shaking itself today from the big blow and the British blockade, because two stars from the merry old isle, green-eyed Vivien Leigh and soft-spoken Robert Donat, had established a firm contraband control on acting honors, while most everything else in film had "Gone With the Wind."

Miss Leigh entered the hall of cinema immortals by capturing the Motion Picture Academy's annual award for the best performance by an actress in 1939, while Donat carried away a companion golden statuette for the outstanding male role of the year.

Miss Leigh scored as the Scarlett O'Hara of "Gone With the Wind," and Donat earned his tribute as the venerable schoolmaster in "Goodbye Mr. Chips."

All in all, it was the night of the big wind in the Ambassador Hotel's Coconut Grove, where 800 excited white-tied men and diamond-and-ermined women, the cream of filmland's talent and beauty crop, had gathered to learn who among them had gathered the current honors.

Eight Honors For 'Gone'

The picture based on Miss Margaret Mitchell's book ran away with eight of the sixteen major awards, for some unknown reason called "Oscars," the cleanest sweep in movie history, to wit, besides Miss Leigh: the best production of 1939; best director, Victor Fleming; best supporting actress, Hattie McDaniel; best screen play, Sidney Howard; best color photography, Ernest Haller and Ray Rennahan; best film editing, Hal C. Kern and James E. Newcom, and the best art direction, Lloyd Wheeler. The epic was produced by David O. Selznick at his Selznick-International Studio and released through Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. It was a personal triumph for Selznick.

Thomas Mitchell was awarded the statuette for the best supporting actor for his portrayal of the courageous intemperate physician in Walter Wanger's "Stagecoach." Miss McDaniel, first member of the Negro race to be accorded academy recognition, was the plantation mammy who looked after Scarlett through thick and thin.

Vivien Present

Donat is in England, but the lovely Miss Leigh, her burnished red-brown hair and green eyes shining in a spotlight accepted her "Oscar" from Darryl F. Zanuck, who presented the awards, with a shy little speech, something about "my great good fortune to have this wonderful part to play." Sidney Howard, the playwright, is dead, victim of a recent tragic accident on his Connecticut farm.

Selznick was given the Irving G. Thalberg memorial award, the most highly prized of executive honors, for "the most consistent high quality of production achievement by an individual producer."

COLUMBUS, March 1 — Mrs. Frances Payne Bolton, of Cleveland, and J. Harry McGregor, of Coshocton County, will go to Washington Monday to assume the congressional seats to which they were elected in special elections Tuesday, they announced today.

McGregor submitted his resignation as a member of the Ohio House of Representatives yesterday. It becomes effective today. Before going to Washington, McGregor said he would file petitions for the full-term congressional nomination at the May 14 primary.

Mrs. Bolton also has announced she would be a candidate for the full-term.

Viborg Destroyed By Red Guns; German Consulate Among Wreckage

HELSINKI, March 1—The situation of the Finnish troops in the Mannerheim Line was clearly nearing a desperate stage today as Soviet Russia hurled new and enormous forces into the battle on the Karelian Isthmus.

Although the Finns still held Viborg, key city to the forward defense system, the steady pressure of the Soviet troops led military observers that it would be merely a matter of hours before the city must be abandoned.

Heavy Russian attacks by large forces of troops were reported from the Transgund sector in an attempt to outflank the western end of the Finnish line. This attack was taken by Helsinki circles as an indication that the Russians were preparing to press their offensive beyond Viborg.

Bay's Roads Bombed

Russian planes carried out heavy bombing attacks on the roads along the west shores of Viborg Bay, where Finnish troops launched counter-attacks over the ice to halt the Russian steam-roller.

Helsinki had two air raid alarms, one at noon and the other at 2:30 p. m. but no planes were sighted.

More than 500,000 Russian troops were believed engaged in the battle for Viborg, now so close to the city that their field guns were hurling shells into its ruins at the rate of ten a minute.

Reports from the battle front said that Viborg has been "reduced to a shambles" and that artillery shells now hampering the city are "blowing it to pieces."

The German consulate has been wrecked, eye witnesses said, adding that they had seen a picture of Chancellor Hitler swinging pre- (Continued on Page Eight)

REPAINTING AND REPAIR OF CITY JAIL NEARS END

Repainting and repair work on the city jail, ordered by the Board of Health under the threat of padlocking and authorized by the city council following approval of the recommendations that were made to that group, will be complete next week.

New coats of white paint have now obscured the drab yellow walls and each cell has been cleaned and repainted. Prior to the painting job, the cells and the corridor between them had been repainted to provide better lighting conditions.

The construction of a barred door between the cell block and the hallway leading to the block will be completed Friday.

Of the entire cleaning and repainting project the only incomplete work, which will be finished next week, is the installation of water traps in the sewer system to prevent the backflow of water into the cell block during heavy spring rains and melting winter snows. It is expected that the completed program will be offered for inspection to the city health department.

MANSLAUGHTER CITED

ATHENS, March 1—Pending posting of a $2,000 bond, Massey Koon, 26, of nearby Doanville, was held on manslaughter charges today. He pleaded not guilty before Magistrate T. R. Bennett to the slaying during an altercation of Hiram Robinett, 56, also of Doanville.

She said she had stopped in Lincoln to say "hello" to Cliff Edwards, famed "Ukelele Ike."

POLICE HUNTING GIRL FUGITIVES FROM DELAWARE

The fourth escape of Augusta Ramsey Brown, 20, Long Alley, from the Girls' Industrial School at Delaware was reported Friday by Frank C. Goff, county probation officer.

Announcement of the escape was made by the school authorities to Mr. Goff who returned her to the institution after her previous departures. Her absence, along with that of two other girls, was noticed Wednesday night.

The two girls who left with her were Betty Fulk, 17, Jackson, and Evelyn Johnson, 17, Chillicothe. When last seen the Circleville girl was wearing a gray striped dress and a brown sweater. She is five feet three inches tall with brown eyes and hair.

It is expected that she will return to Circleville as she has on previous occasions. Mrs. Brown was sent to the Industrial school in August, 1938 on charges of delinquency. Her present disappearance marks the fourth time that she has left the practically unguarded institution without permission.

GREEN'S MISSING AUTO FOUND WRECKED BY TREE

The whereabouts of James White, Maplewood Avenue, driver for Willis Green, South Court Street, newspaper distributor, was unknown Friday after an accident two miles east of Meade, Pickaway Township, at 1 a. m. in which the Green car was wrecked.

White was supposed to be driving the automobile, Green told Sheriff Charles Radcliff, but he has not appeared at his home nor has he reported to Mr. Green since the mishap. The car, a Chevrolet, was towed to Circleville Friday by the Harden-Stevenson Co. wrecker.

The first intimation that local authorities had of an accident came during the morning when Frank McAfee, Meade groceryman, called Sheriff Radcliff to inform him that a wrecked car was standing along the road. It had struck a tree. Radcliff went to investigate and learned that it was Green's machine. On his return to Circleville he asked Green if he knew what had happened to his car and when Green answered in the negative the sheriff informed him that it had been wrecked.

Minister Tells Welles Troops Ready to Strike

Dark Picture Of Europe's Almost Certain Trend Painted For Emissary Of F. D. R.; Hitler To Be Interviewed Saturday

END OF BRIT DOMINATION NAZI GOAL

"American Angle" Stressed By Ribbentrop During Meeting In Berlin; "Armistice Hollow Farce," Declares Spokesman

BERLIN, March 1—Nazi Germany stands firmly opposed to any peace which fails to end Great Britain's "strangle-hold" of the world's trade routes, Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop told Under Secretary of State Sumner Welles today.

In a two-hour prelude to the American envoy's forthcoming conference with Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler, Von Ribbentrop gave Welles a discouraging picture of the outlook for peace.

An armistice in any shape or form until Britain's domination of the seas and the trade routes of the world is ended would be a "hollow farce," Von Ribbentrop said.

The German point of view was significantly stressed in a semi-official statement referring to the fact that Welles' visit coincided with the six months' anniversary of outbreak of the war.

"The Greater Reich is fully satisfied with the course of the war so far," this statement said.

"Germany is conscious of its military superiority and its economic invincibility. The whole Reich confidently awaits the inevitable decision, so eagerly anticipated by the young nations of Europe, especially Fascist Italy.

Decisive Blow Awaited

"German defense forces continue to stand by awaiting the order to strike a decisive blow. The time of this no one knows, but when it comes, it will overshadow all previous military conceptions."

Responsible German quarters, describing the interview which launched Welles' history-making tour of Europe's warring capitals, outlined Von Ribbentrop's argument as follows:

"Until this English tyranny of world trade is ended and freedom of the seas restored, any suggestion of an armistice or summoning a conference around a green-baize table represents waste motion so far as Germany is concerned."

It was generally acknowledged that Hitler himself would re-emphasize this point of view when he receives Welles late tomorrow afternoon.

Reliable spokesmen closely connected with the foreign office said that Von Ribbentrop confronted the American emissary with this blunt question:

"What use is peace if it gives only a brief breathing spell enabling the world powers to race toward some new conflict?"

Welles Listens

These responsible quarters gave no intimation of Welles' reaction to the argument, affording the impression that the American undersecretary of state played only a listening role while Von Ribbentrop expounded his argument.

The foreign minister went into great detail to convince Welles that Germany never could rest content while Britain rules the seas, it was said, citing British sovereignty over such vital points on the world trade routes as Malta, Gibraltar and Suez.

Von Ribbentrop spoke hypothetically of possible British suzerainty over the Panama Canal and asked Welles whether the United States would consent to any such procedure, the spokesmen said. (Continued on Page Eight)

'SMEAR HOOVER' DRIVE BELIEVED 'COMMUNISTIC'

NEW YORK, March 1—Simultaneous development of a "smear" campaign from a half dozen separate sources against J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, bears plain indication that the movement is Communistic in part at least, if not actually of Communist origin, the New York Journal-American said in an exclusive story today.

The most recent criticism of Hoover has centered on his presence in Florida at this time. Actually, the story said, Hoover and his agents are in Florida "because they were ordered there by Frank Murphy when he was attorney general before his elevation to the Supreme Court of the United States." The story quotes this statement of Hoover before a (Continued on Page Eight)

GRIFFITH REFUSES AGAIN TO VOTE 'HAM AND EGGS'

COLUMBUS, March 1—For the second time, Secretary of State Earl Griffith today refused to approve a proposal for a constitutional amendment which would pay $30 a week to unemployed persons over 57 years of age.

In returning the proposed amendment to Edmund A. Lansing, head of the Pension Action Bureau in Cleveland, Griffith declared that errors in the form as well as state and government legislation to aid the unemployed and aged motivated the rejection.

CONGRESS OKEHS PLAN Executive To Reach Home Saturday After Trip In Panama Region

ABOARD U. S. S. LANG, March 1—President Roosevelt today announced he will sign the $100,000,000 export-import bank bill making possible a $20,000,000 loan to Finland on Saturday immediately on his return to Washington from a vacation cruise.

Advised aboard his vacation ship, the cruiser Tuscaloosa, that congress had passed the measure, the President wirelessly Jesse Jones, RFC head, to proceed at once with loans as the measure provides.

As soon as he was apprised that congress had passed the bill increasing the export-import bank's capital to $100,000,000 and empowering it to lend up to $20,000,000 each to Finland, China and other neutrals, Mr. Roosevelt radioed Jones:

"Have just been advised of final passage of bill extending lending authority of export-import bank. I will sign this bill on Saturday and you may therefore proceed on this basis."

Lifting the veil of secrecy on his itinerary yesterday afternoon, the President announced the Tuscaloosa would arrive at Pensacola about noon today. He will entrain at once for Washington and arrive Saturday afternoon, terminating his 15-day, 4,000 mile vacation cruise. On his jaunt, the President inspected the outer Pacific defenses of the Panama Canal and other hemisphere fortifications.

THEATRES

AT THE CLIFTONA

"Geronimo!"—there was a cry to stop a sturdy heart when, in the days of his glory, that roaring, raging, revengeful savage roamed and raided the Great Southwest he wanted for his own! "Geronimo!"—there is a motion picture to race your pulse as the exploits of this last great Indian enemy cram the screen with action and romance of giant proportions!

Paramount cast this powerful story now at the Cliftona Theatre with people who know how to play their roles to the hilt, Preston Foster, Ellen Drew, Andy Devine, William Henry, Ralph Morgan and Chief Thunder Cloud contribute vivid portrayals.

With its basis in fact and its fact running faster than fiction, "Geronimo!" brings to the screen a fascinating chapter of American history that begins when the United States ceded from Mexico the land which was to make up the states of New Mexico and Arizona. The Government acquired not only trackless wilds, but a troublesome tribe of Apache Indians unwilling to surrender the country.

A punitive expedition undertaken by the American Army discovers Geronimo is a relentless and wily foe. It is only after several thrilling battles are fought and unprecedented sabotage is uncovered that Geronimo is taken.

Container Corporation History Dates to 1882

Container Corporation of America, whose operations at Circleville date back to 1882, is one of this area's oldest industries. As successor to the original American Straw Board Company, the company's mill here typifies the ideal industrial enterprise insofar as it utilizes a bumper agricultural produce, wheat straw, for use in the manufacture of an important commercial product, shipping cases.

Headquartered at Chicago, Container Corporation maintains three manufacturing plants in that city, producing paperboard, corrugated and solid fibre shipping containers, and folding cartons. The Company operates mills at Wabash and Carthage, Ind., Philadelphia, Pa., and Wilmington, Del. Its other fabricating units are Natick, Mass., Cleveland and Cincinnati, Ohio, Anderson, Ind., and also at Philadelphia. A new fabricating plant has been recently announced for Rock Island, Ill.

Wood is gathered from its own pine forests in Florida for processing into wood pulp in the Company's Fernandina, Fla., mill. Export operations are carried on from Philadelphia. Overship of all its sources of raw materials makes the Container Corporation of America the only wholly integrated concern in the paperboard packaging field.

Last year the production of paperboard was something in excess of 400,000 tons from Container's mills, while during that period 390,000 tons of finished products were shipped from its factories, and wood pulp operations produced 150 tons per day. Container Corporation employs about 5,000 persons with an annual payroll above

CITY BUYS STERILIZER FOR USE OF HOSPITAL

Circleville Board of Control, comprised of the mayor, safety director and service director, Friday, announced purchase of a new sterilizer for Berger hospital at a cost of $843.75, less an allowance for the hospital's old sterilizer. The purchase was made from the American Sterilizer Co., Erie, Pa. There were three bids.

Karl Herrmann, safety director, said that the company from which the purchase was made is the same one that loaned a sterilizer to the hospital after its other one collapsed.

$4,000,000. The Company has consistently adhered to an operating philosophy of decentralization, opening new markets and lowering transportation costs for the consumers of its products.

5,000 Users Served
Container Corporation serves more than 5,000 users of cartons and shipping cases, packaging many of the nation's best known products in every field of manufacturing—foodstuffs, drugs and pharmaceutical supplies, automobile and machinery parts—virtually everything from watches to washing machines.

Container Corporation was organized in 1926 through the consolidation of several constituent companies owning mills, factories or fabricating units. As an industry it draws its raw materials from strictly "surplus" sources: Waste paper gathered in the metropolitan centers just as the local mill utilizes surplus crops of wheat straw from the wheat fields of Indiana, and wood pulp from Florida's vast expanse of pine acreage.

Paepcke Youngest
Walter P. Paepcke, Chicago, president of the Container Corporation, is among the nation's younger large corporation executives. A native of Illinois, Mr. Paepcke's career in industry began shortly after his graduation at Yale University, when he entered the employ of Chicago Mill and Lumber Company, of which his father was founder. In later years, as treasurer and eventually president of Chicago Mill and Lumber Company, he set up the plans for creation of Container Corporation. The Circleville mill is under the management of Norbert L. Cochran. M. R. Caldwell is mill superintendent.

WIFE OF F. D.'S ELDEST DUE FOR COURT HEARING

LOS ANGELES, March 1—With no opposition expected, Mrs. James Roosevelt was to appear in Los Angeles superior court today and ask for a divorce from the eldest son of the President.

Her husband, from whom she separated more than a year ago after eight years of marriage, was not expected to appear in court, although he filed the original divorce complaint last month. He will be represented by counsel.

Mrs. Roosevelt sought her marital freedom on a cross-complaint in which she charged desertion and cruelty.

Roosevelt, in his complaint, charged desertion, alleging that the former Betsey Cushing of Boston refused to live with him in Hollywood where he has become a film producer.

Accompanied by her brother, Henry K. Cushing, Brookline, Mass., insurance broker, and Basil O'Connor, New York attorney, Mrs. Roosevelt was cheerful in the presence of reporters on her arrival yesterday in Los Angeles, but refused to make any comment.

Speaking for his sister, Cushing said:

"The matter will be accomplished, we hope, with a minimum amount of sensationalism."

Already agreed on by the couple, a property settlement under terms of which Mrs. Roosevelt is to receive funds for support of their two children, Sara Delano, 7, and Kate, 4, will be presented to the court for approval.

The Roosevelts were married at Brookline, Mass., on June 4, 1930.

SPORTSMEN AND FARMERS ASKED TO CONFERENCE

March 6 Meeting Called To Discuss 15-Point Conservation Plan TO PICK DELEGATES

Public Hearings To Be Conducted Later By State Department

In an effort to explain the 15-point program announced by Don Waters, state conservation commissioner, and to select two Pickaway County representatives for the district conservation committee, an open meeting of all farmers and sportsmen in the county will be held at the Court House at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday, March 6.

From each of the seven district committees, two representatives will be selected to act as spokesmen from the district at public hearings conducted by the Conservation and Natural Resources Commission and to attend meetings of the commission to act in an advisory capacity. Selected as county representatives will be one farmer and one sportsman.

"We hope to be able to serve the people in a more efficient manner this way," Mr. Waters stated. "There is no effort on our part to supplant regularly established sportsmen's and farmer's groups, but rather to encourage them, as well as individuals, to participate in these county meetings."

District headquarters will be established to unify the groups and local programs as well as coordinate all the activities of the Division under the direction of a district supervisor.

Frank L. Hard, who will serve as district supervisor for district number 5 of which Pickaway County is a part, will call the meeting to order and turn it over to the officers selected by those attending the meeting. The session will be thrown open to the group so that those attending may have the opportunity of expressing their views of conservation problems.

CHILLICOTHEA N S TO TEST SURVEY OF CITY TRAFFIC

CHILLICOTHE, March 1—The new traffic code for the city based on findings made recently in a survey by W. J. Knight received the recommendation of a six month trial by the Planning Commission.

Enactment of a trial ordinance by the city council received the unanimous favor of the commission. The experts survey suggested: Rerouting U. S. 23 through the city; restrict Water Street to one way traffic; provide one way traffic in uptown alleys; provide by-passes for heavy trucking; reallocate city bus loading zones. Other provisions would deal with parking and placing of taxicab stands.

The new traffic code will be framed and submitted to the city council.

ALLISON ENTERS RACE FOR STATE SECRETARY JOB

COLUMBUS, March 1—M. Ray Allison, of Columbus, former state finance director and assistant secretary of state, announced today he would be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Secretary of State at the May 14 primary.

Allison, a native of Westville, Champaign County, said he had been prompted to make the announcement by "friendly words of encouragement from many sections of the state."

He served as assistant secretary of state from 1933 to 1935, when he was appointed finance head by former Gov. Martin L. Davey. He was nominated by the Democratic party for attorney general in 1930 but was defeated by Gilbert Bettman, of Cincinnati.

If elected, Allison promised that he would "fervently hold with all the force the office commands that in Ohio there shall be a free 'right of referendum' and an impartial conduct of elections."

"In seeking nomination and election to the office of Secretary of State, I offer my candidacy unhampered with partisan factions," Allison said.

ROTARIANS HEAR DISCUSSION OF RECENT SERIES

Miss Alice Ada May, North Scio to Street, guest speaker at the Rotary Club's luncheon Thursday, reviewed her impressions of the club's Institute For Better International Understanding series.

She analyzed her opinion of each of the four speakers that appeared on the platform during the series and their individual plans for world peace, ethnic groups, economic trade units, cultural alignments, and one speaker who had no plan to offer.

Then Miss May concluded her speech by outlining her own plan to keep America out of war and the policy she thought the nation should follow: 1) Stay out of European. 2) Send the European democracies all the things they need even if the United States is not paid for them. 3) Mend "our own fences" here. 4) Remember America's obligation to keep democracy alive.

She stressed the last point for the maintenance of our American heritage of the Bill of Rights and the Constitution.

HIGH SCHOOL DEBATERS WIN AT COLUMBUS WEST

The affirmative debating team of Circleville High School, comprised of Leland Siegwald and Paul Turner, won a contest Thursday from the Columbus West High team on: "Resolved: That the Government Should Own and Operate the Railroads." The match was staged at West.

The victory gives the Circleville debaters a 50-50 break in league competition, the team coached by Samuel R. Johnson being a member of District I of the Ohio Speech League.

OHIO STATE FAIR INCORPORATION MOVE STARTED

COLUMBUS, March 1—A plan to incorporate the Ohio State Fair, which has lost money for 19 of the last 20 years, today met with the approval of Governor Bricker.

"I am in sympathy with making the fair a permanent corporation not subject to change with every administration," he said of the plan submitted by a special advisory council.

If the action is taken, it must be approved by the legislature. The governor said the matter would be placed before a special session if one were called.

The advisory council also reported that the physical properties of the fair had degenerated "to an alarming degree." They suggested that, through incorporation, the fair could be placed on a business basis, and make enough money for its own upkeep and necessary improvements.

Means suggested for off-season revenue included the building of a dormitory for Ohio State University students, and the rental of space to some state departments.

TEEGARDINS STRENGTHEN THEIR BERKSHIRE HERD

At the Ohio Berkshire Breeders Association Sale held at London, C. B. Teegardin & Sons, Ashville, further strengthened their herd of Berkshires by the purchase of the top sow of the offering. She was Conner's Queen Mae 4th, consigned by Conner's Prairie Farm, Noblesville, Indiana. She is bred to Conner's Renown, the grand champion boar at the 1939 Ohio State Fair.

Teegardin also purchased an aged sow, Miss Eliminator Girl, regarded generally by breeders as the best individual offered in any sale this year. She is bred to the second prize junior yearling boar at the 1939 Ohio State Fair, stand-

DAVEY HINTS HE MAY RUN AGAIN FOR GOVERNOR

KENT, March 1—Former Gov. Martin L. Davey announced from his Kent home today that he had been "seriously considering" running for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination but that he would not make a definite decision until next Wednesday.

"Any rumors or published statements to the effect that I will not be a candidate are the results of idle-guesswork or wishful thinking," Davey said. "The fact is that I have been seriously considering it but have not reached a final decision."

The statement did not come as a surprise to political leaders and observers. They pointed out that Davey had postponed making his intentions clear until he was certain of the plans of U. S. Sen. V. Donahey.

(Donahey announced in Washington several days ago that he would decide his political future this week and would announce publicly Sunday whether he would be a candidate for re-election or retire from public service.)

In his brief statement, Davey declined to explain his delay. It was believed, however, that he was waiting to decide whether to seek renomination for another term as governor or run for U. S. senator if Donahey didn't run again.

"Out of consideration for the many thousands of inquiries," Davey's statement read, "I feel that it is only fair to make the following brief statement. It is my present intention to make a definite announcement as to the question of being a candidate for governor by the middle of next week. The reasons for withholding announcement until that time are sound and sufficient."

YORK STREET YOUTH IN JAIL ON THEFT CHARGE

Lee Adams, 24, York Street, was sent to the county jail Thursday night when he failed to post a $1,000 bond after his hearing before Mayor William Cady. Adams was charged with breaking into the smoke house of Frank Karshner, Route 1, Circleville, and stealing an automobile radiator which he sold to a Circleville firm for $1. He is being held on a charge of breaking and entering rather than petty larceny.

DELINQUENCY DOWN

WILMINGTON, March 1—Probate Judge Hugh J. Wright reported a decrease of juvenile delinquency in Clinton County of one-third in the last two and one-half years. He attributed this decline to the better supervised playgrounds and playground equipment, more active Boy Scout campaigns and other youth agencies.

TO THE MONDAY CLUB

FRIENDS: Fifty years ago a band of earnest women decided to form an association for the purpose of improving their minds. They met bi-monthly, adopted a constitution and elected officers. Realizing that in union there is strength they continued the good work—and work they did—beginning at the culture of Greece they included most of the known world. How they studied. In those early days each member was prepared to answer any question asked by the leader. There were only about twenty members and rarely was any one absent from a meeting, rain or shine found them in their place eager to tell all they knew. After a lapse of time they decided to add new members and the quota was raised to thirty. As many were eager to join the ranks, the quota was again raised to one hundred; even then there was a long waiting list. At this time it seemed advisable to divide the club members into sections, each section choosing the topic preferred for study. The music section was added and has proved a rare delight, treating the members to music which many could not hear elsewhere. Outside talent was invited and the club listened delightedly to a number of fine lectures. Nor did they forget the lighter side of life. Once a year a social session was held and a fine program was furnished to relieve the monotony of too much seriousness. Of the original members only four are left in the town, Mrs. C. E. Groce, Mrs. Howard Jones, Miss Nell Weldon and Miss Elizabeth Renick. A few more live in distant cities and are loyal to their first love. The Monday Club has borne its share in the life of Circleville. It has not exclusively devoted itself to the study of history or biography. The program of work made out by a committee appointed by the club makes out the program for the year's work. This is followed carefully to the great benefit of the individual members.

TO CIVIC-MINDED

FOLK: Today is a great one in Circleville because announcement is being made of the success of the campaign to obtain funds for High School band uniforms. The total of money received is amazing; it surprised even those who went into the campaign with the most optimistic views. And now our band can take its place beside those of other cities. For a long while our organization of youngsters has been equally capable when compared with organizations of other cities of our size, but their equipment and attire has been of the nattiest type. Orchids go to all who participated in the campaign and to all who contributed to make it a success. And, above all, a very special orchid should go to the American Legion Auxiliary from whence the idea came that started the campaign. There are a good many of us who can hardly wait until the band boys and girls swing into action about Memorial Day, or maybe before, in their new uniforms. I wish, too, to congratulate those responsible for the testimonial banquet for Charles F. Zaenglein, director of the band. The many tributes paid to him were stated with sincerity, and, too, the dinner helped to swell the band uniform fund. There is more money in the campaign treasury now than is needed for suits, but a reserve can always be used and then there may be several instruments that would help the band. Regardless of what is done with the money, it will be used to the best advantage.

TO BASKETBALL TEAMS

ASHVILLE, DARBY: Boys and girls of the aforementioned schools should be proud that they were able to win county basketball championships in a tournament that was as outstanding as any seen in Pickaway County in a good many years. Congratulations go to all who participated on the winning teams and to their coaches for producing such outstanding organizations. The tournament produced surprises and upsets just as have others in days gone by, with favorites, as usual, failing to survive the heated play of underdog opponents. In the class of favorites before the tournament started were Pickaway boys and New Holland girls, both with perfect records for the season. It was too bad that either had to lose, but those things happen in our county tournament. The show was a financial success, the playing court provided proved to be an excellent one for the athletes and all facilities were excellent. The management of the event and officials of the Atlanta school are to be congratulated for doing a splendid job.

TO MOTORISTS

DRIVERS: This warning, which is perennial, should be heeded by all of you who own automobiles. GET YOUR 1940 LICENSE PLATES EARLY AND AVOID THE RUSH. Regardless of just how often the warning is issued there are still some financially able to do so who do not buy their new tags until the last day, forcing a crush at the license bureau which inconveniences many persons. Tags are being sold today, but you cannot put them on your automobiles until March 10. They must be put on before April 1. Remember that it is imperative that you take your guarantees of title with you when applying for license tags. If you remember this you will be saving some time and embarrassment because the tag dispensers are not permitted to issue plates unless you can prove that the automobile you are driving belongs to you. Tag offices are located in Circleville, Ashville, Williamsport, New Holland and Commercial Point for the convenience of all in the county. Don't delay: get your tags as soon as convenient.

WORLD AT A GLANCE

ON LINCOLN'S BIRTHDAY, the Democratic party organization got a sample of the kind of Republican attack it will have to deal with during the coming political campaign. Democratic leaders aren't admitting for publication that the Republicans' initial barrage gave them anything to worry about. Confidentially, however, their chats are to the effect that Lincoln Day performance foreshadows a fight for which they must tighten their lines.

They must realize that the Republicans' Lincoln Day blow-out knocked their Jackson Day affair into a cocked hat. Jackson Day festivities weren't prepared for on a major scale. There were some big banquets, but they were social events rather than popular rallies. They weren't publicized capably, either before they were held or after ward. Their avowed purpose was to raise money for Democratic campaign activities. A $35 dinner at from $25 to $100 per plate isn't calculated to draw a crowd of average voters.

Their speeches were good, but not particularly thrilling. Moreover, Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg (R) didn't do the celebration much good by reminding the country that the Democrats' original Jackson Day celebration, back in Old Hickory's time, was to signalize the extinction of Uncle Sam's national indebtedness—now, under a Democratic administration, approaching 45 billions.

AS TO LINCOLN DAY! Compare Jackson Day with Lincoln Day.

The Jackson-ites had eight to 10 notable talkers throughout the country.

The Lincoln-ites had 800 to 1,000. They included some "big guns"—Ex-President Hoover, Ex-Governor Landon, Tom Dewey, Vandenberg, Senator Bob Taft, Congressman Joe Martin and plenty of governors, besides lots of local celebrities.

Republican oratory, in fact, was so copious that the radio couldn't carry all of it. It couldn't be listened to all around. Interested folk had to read a lot of it in the next morning's newspapers. Probably they DIDN'T read all of it. Just the same, the newspapers had three or four pages of Lincoln Day stuff in comparison with three or four columns of Jackson Day Rooseveltianism & Co.

In short, Lincoln Day made a good deal more of a "splash" than Jackson Day did.

There's another consideration. An offensive is a deal more snappy than a defensive is: Lincoln Day was OFFensive; Jackson Day was DE-fensive. But, aside from all that, the Republicans' management was better than the Democrats'. They furnished a better show than the Democrats did.

DEMO SPLIT

As everybody knows, it's up to the Democrats to repair another of their fundamental weaknesses. They're split. They're New Dealers and anti-New Dealers. The Republicans are pretty solid.

It's been illustrated by these two sets of anniversaries. Republican sentiment is all down the same alley. Democrats are down two different alleys. Some Democrats are almost Republicans. Some Republicans can almost get along with some Democrats.

But they're partially divided. There ought to be two new parties, of course.

But there won't be two new groups on rational lines. They'll be political.

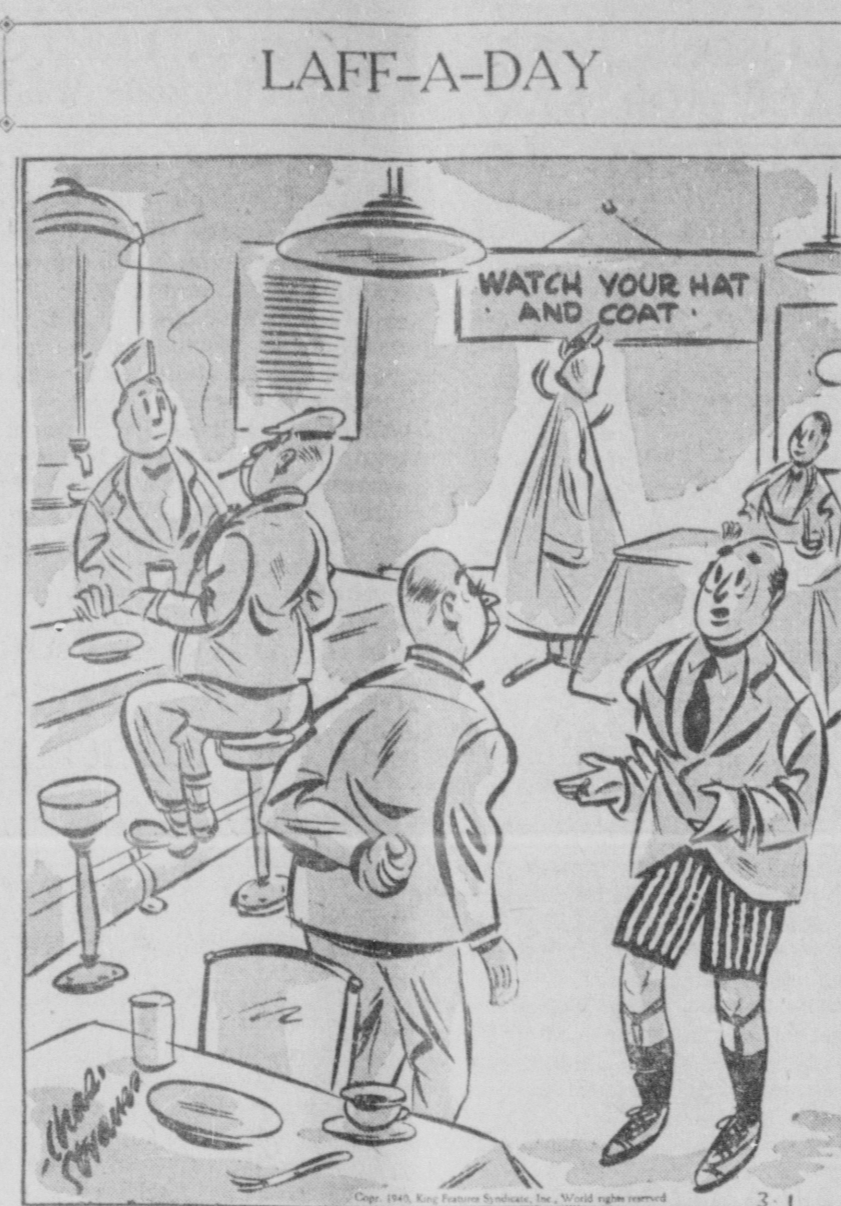

I wish there could be two parties. But there ain't—anywhere on earth.

It would be possible to decide between 'em. It ain't.

They just don't split evenly. There may be two parties—a liberal and a conservative, but not two parties, as such.

DIET AND HEALTH

Ideal Figure? There Isn't Any!

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

What are the measurements for the ideal female figure about which so much is written in the magazines lately?

There is no ideal female figure and no measurements. The measurements taken by the WPA are for the purpose of standardizing measurements for dresses and should not be taken as a concept of perfection. Figures differ with body types.

A false standard of the female figure is set up in fashion plates.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Tall, languid, feeble figures, very much too long in the leg and all apparently in the early stages of galloping consumption, tend to mislead, to their hurt, young women who would rather be dead than not in the fashion.

Proper Diet for Irritable Colon

What is a diet for chronic colitis?

Chronic colitis of the non-infectious type would better be called "irritable colon." Low carbohydrate alone, however, is not the only or most important part of the treatment.

Bowel-conscious patients require frequent assurance that a daily evacuation is not essential or even normal under certain circumstances of diet, and that cathartics are never necessary. In patients who have been whipping the bowel with cathartics, a period of apparent constipation will naturally follow their withdrawal. After giving up a long habit of cathartics, if the bowel has not evacuated by the fourth day, an oil retention enema can be given.

The fallacy of auto-intoxication will be explained away and the fear of poisoning from excessive meat intake be allayed. "Constipation headache" should be explained on a reflex basis rather than as being due to poisoning.

CHAPTER FORTY-THREE

CHRISTMAS week dawned clear and crisp, but the weather man promised snow. Cissie took her staff out to Johnny Cake Hill and opened the great old Harlowe mansion early one morning.

In the afternoon when Romany drove Cholly out in her new car, the place was a bedlam of servants, caterers and deliveries.

Cissie was in seventh heaven, dressed in slacks, directing the cutting of trees and boughs in the woods back of the estate. She rode in a truckload of them, waving to Romany, waiting for her on the front veranda.

"Oh, Tannenbaum, oh, Tannenbaum," she sang gaily. "I've been wishing you girls would hurry. You should see the big tree in the front room. I'm dying to start in on it."

It reached to the ceiling of the great old beamed room. On the other end cracked a great log fire, and the place smelled like a forest. Romany and Cholly hurried into slacks at Cissie's suggestion. They decorated until dinner time, then, after pausing long enough to dine, went back to their task until midnight. When they had finished, the great room was a fairland of lights and boughs. Clusters of mistletoe hung over all the doors and holly lent color and charm to the windows.

The afternoon before Christmas Eve, Cecelia called Romany at Intertele, where she was rehearsing. "I want you to drive out and bring that writer friend of yours for the party, darling. If he spurns us again, let me know and I'll come in and get him myself."

Romany hesitated. "Do you really think I should, Cissie? I wouldn't want him to think I'm chasing him."

"You do as I say," Cecelia laughed. "Don't telephone him a warning so he can duck. A Halle always gets her man!"

Dover was driving Cholly out to Cissie's farm, so Romany set out for South Shore drive, not without trepidation. It wasn't easy to throw yourself at a man's head when he hadn't even as much as called you on the phone since the night he first kissed you weeks before.

A little breathless Romany rang the bell and, when the buzzer sounded, she sighed with relief. Bax was home. She ran up the stairs and again, as he had done when she called before, Bax stepped back with surprise.

"Oh," he smiled crookedly, "it's you, Glamor Gal. This is a surprise."

"It shouldn't be," Romany walked inside and Bax closed the door. "It's getting to be quite a habit."

"May I have your milk?" She noticed that his face was thinner, with a little pang.

"Aunt Cecelia's milk," Romany corrected him with an uncertain little smile. "No, I won't take it off. I've come to carry you off to the country. Aunt Cissie is having something that would click. I've even done some short stories and started on a full-length novel."

Romany said, pleased:

"Oh, that's lovely. I'm sure you'll sell them."

"I doubt it," Bax gripped the wheel. "But at least I keep a guy from going off the deep end to work at something. Who is coming to the party?" he asked then, changing the subject.

"Cissie has invited a lot of people to drop in. I imagine it'll be sort of a mad house tomorrow. Tonight Dover is coming out to see Charlotte, of course. And Brent Nelson and Hal Trotter, the director, will stay over night and tomorrow."

"Oh!" Bax pretended to be having difficulty seeing through the rapidly falling snow. "Nelson is in town for Christmas, too?"

"Yes," Romany nodded. "He has a broadcast tomorrow."

"Of course—Bax managed a grin—"we would assume that the steady would be around for the holiday."

Romany was silent, averting her face. Bax looked ahead at the falling snow. "I presume everything is about all set for a June wedding. Or will it be sooner?"

"Nothing is all set," Romany said firmly. "I'm not engaged to Brent yet, Bax."

"Not—yet. Then you mean you will be?"

"I—don't know," Romany said uncertainly. "I really don't know, Bax. Turn here," she directed.

"This is Johnny Cake Hill. See the lights of the house through the trees?"

She was glad to drop the subject of Brent Nelson and her engagement or marriage. The subject was as painful to Bax, but he had wanted to know the truth. As they stopped in the driveway, Bax touched her cheek fleetingly with his lips.

"That's for Christmas," his face was close and white. "And I still say if it were possible for me to get in the running, I'd use up a little of the time that Nelson guy is taking too much of."

A servant came out to take the car and Aunt Cissie stood in the great front door. There was no time to answer, but Romany's heart was beating with a queer relief.

"Merry Christmas," Aunt Cissie called gaily, welcoming them to the Hill. "I see you corralled him, Romany."

The tall, thin young man with the sensitive, brilliant face looked down at her, blinking with astonishment.

"So this is Aunt Cissie? I thought you were an old lady! Romany didn't tell me she had a twin."

His face relaxed into a grin and Cissie decided in a flash, looking quickly from her niece to him, that they were in love. It was there on their faces, for anyone to see. She smiled.

Anniversary Meeting

In honor of the third anniversary of the first Baha'i meeting in Circleville, the local Baha'i Group held a covered dish supper Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. J. O. Eagleson, North Pickaway Street.

The program for the evening consisted in a study of the subject, "Our Economic Problem," conducted by Mrs. W. W. Robinson. The divine plan for world civilization was discussed, bringing out the thought that only through friendly consultation, cooperation and love can the problems of today be solved.

As the climax for the program, the leader reviewed "The Supreme Affiliation," by Alfred E. Lunt. Definite constructive principles were given, such as unity, balance of wealth, adjustment of agriculture as a basic industry, curtailment of military expenditure, and the establishment of a universal language.

The Baha'i plan, Mrs. Robinson brought out, was one of equilibrium and moderation. She closed with the following quotation from the writings of Abdu'l-Baha: "The secrets of the whole economic question are divine in nature and are concerned with the world of the heart and spirit."

Out-of-town guests for the evening were Mrs. Flora Magley, Miss Charlotte Lindenberg and Mrs. Florence Reeb, of Columbus.

HENRY TO SEEK WORLD'S MARK IN GARCIA GO

LOS ANGELES, March 1—World's Welterweight Champion Henry Armstrong will be out to realize his long cherished ambition to become the only pugilist ever to have held four world titles when he takes on Ceferino Garcia, tonight for the middleweight crown.

The wagering, however, indicated that Garcia will rule a 6 to 5 favorite at ringside.

The distance is 10 rounds, the estimated attendance 30,000, the hoped-for gate receipts close to $100,000, scaled from $1 to $10.

The referee was a commission secret until today at noon, when Chairman Jerry Giesler meets with the other four members of the State Athletic Commission to make the selection.

Fair weather was predicted.

CROWD JOINS IN TESTIMONIAL BANQUET IN HONOR OF C. F. ZAENGLEIN

TRIBUTES PAID TO MEMBER OF SCHOOL FACULTY

Announcement Is Made That Band Uniform Fund Goes Over The Top

MANY PERSONS SPEAK

Checks From Odd Fellows And Ted Lewis Received And Presented

Two hundred and thirty-six citizens of Circleville gathered in Memorial Hall Thursday night to pay tribute to Charles F. Zaenglein for his 23 years of service to the schools of the city.

Fred Clark, speaking as a representative of the citizens of the city, lauded Mr. Zaenglein for the music which "he provided for the greater enjoyment of life." Terming the guest of honor as "one of the six-hardest working men in the city," Frank Fischer, superintendent of Circleville schools, told Mr. Zaenglein that his long years of work have not gone unappreciated.

The good will which has been created between Circleville and the surrounding communities for which the music teacher was greatly responsible was stressed by Robert Colville, county treasurer. Colville who acted as treasurer for the Band Uniform Fund had the pleasure of adding that the necessary amount of money to outfit the band had been acquired. Mrs. Lillian Moore of the school board expressed the wishes of the community for Mr. Zaenglein's continued success.

All Applaud Guest

When Mr. Zaenglein was introduced by the toastmaster, the Rev. Robert Kelsey, everyone in the hall rose to his feet and applauded and cheered in a brilliant spontaneous demonstration.

Speaking briefly, Mr. Zaenglein said that it all appeared as though it were a dream and too good to be true. He thanked everyone for the sacrifices that they have made to put the drive for funds over the top and he asked that the students who have helped make the musical organizations of the city may not be forgotten. Above all, he wanted the people of Circleville to be proud of the student musicians.

John D. Hummel thanked the fraternal groups of the city for their contributions to the fund and for their cooperation in making the drive a success. He then presented a check of $50 to be added to the fund as a contribution of the Circleville lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows.

A letter of good wishes and a check for $50 from Ted Lewis was read and presented to the fund by Mr. Clark. Ted wrote of the days when he played with the Circleville band and said that he hoped it became the great organization that everyone wishes it to be.

Rev. L. C. Sherburne, rector of the Episcopal Church, offered the invocation before dinner.

Police Charge Hit-Run Driver As Murderer

CHICAGO, March 1—Police charged today that 5-year-old Beverly Joan Frank, her body crushed by a hit-and-run driver, was carted to a cold garage while still living by the driver and left alone under a tarpulin to die.

They charged that Walter H. Bradshaw, 44, a butcher shop owner, admitted he hid the body of the girl and calmly left it to return to his meat shop because he was worried about whether his 18-year-old son "could handle the afternoon rush."

The girl was struck down in front of her home. Police said Bradshaw picked up her body, carried it away in his car and hid it beneath an old overcoat and a tarpaulin on the floor of his garage.

Physicians who examined the body said they were certain the girl was alive when she was left on the cold garage floor.

Police quoted Bradshaw as saying: "My son was alone in the market. He's young and I was worried whether he could handle the afternoon rush."

"I intended to watch the papers and see where the little girl lived. Then when I closed my shop at

COLLEGIANS READ MORE

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—Students at Brown University are reading twice as much as they did last year, according to Librarian Henry B. Van Hoesen. He reports that from July through December book circulation totaled 43,096 as compared to 25,565 in the same period in 1938. He attributes the jump to Brown's new four-course plan which stimulates outside reading, writing and independent study.

Refugee Suicide

CAREER of Nina Tallini, refugee musical comedy star of the Viennese stage, ends in New York by suicide. The actress, who had been under treatment for a mental disorder since arriving from Latvia four weeks ago, leaves a husband and a son. The husband reportedly was a wealthy manufacturer before exile.

FIVE MORE DEAD IN SACRAMENTO VALLEY FLOODS

SAN FRANCISCO, March 1—A new break in the swollen Sacramento River claimed at least five additional lives today while levee crews waged an exhausting battle against the devastating effects of northern California's worst flood in years.

The flood death toll mounted to nine when the river crashed through the center bypass four miles south of Meridian, releasing a wall of water that spilled over 35,000 acres of richly fertile farm land.

A mother and her four children, rescue workers reported, were trapped in an automobile and drowned in the new flood. The husband and father, F. Siehardy, was hurled out of the car, and grasped a tree and managed to hang on until rescuers arrived.

Immediately after the bypass collapsed under the terrific pressure of the cresting river, rescue operations were launched simultaneously at Colusa and Marysville. Trucks and automobiles were mobilized at Colusa and rushed to the newly-stricken area to aid 1,500 persons in reaching higher ground.

The disaster committee of the Yuba-Sutter American Legion post at Marysville issued a call for all available boats to proceed to the Meridian district.

Four other persons were known to have perished yesterday, an estimated 5,000 others were homeless and damage to crops and property ran into millions in widely separated flood areas.

While the flood waned in the Upper Sacramento Valley, several crucial battles were being waged against the rampaging Sacramento River to save rich agricultural land in the middle valley from inundation.

RATCLIFF CHILD DIES

Funeral services will be Saturday at 10 a. m. in the Whittell Funeral Home, Kingston, for Milton Emerson Ratcliff, two month old son of Mr. and Mrs. Burton Ratcliff. The Ratcliff family lives on the Kreisel farm in Pickaway Township. Besides the parents, the child is survived by a brother and sister and its paternal grandparents.

Father Coughlin seems to have been, as you might say, a little too radioactive.

MINISTER TELLS WELLES TROOPS READY TO STRIKE

man said. In this connection, Von Ribbentrop referred to American annoyance over British seizure and inspection of mails at Bermuda, and cited this as an example of the British world hegemony that Germany is attempting to end.

The Reich is just as much entitled as the United States to refuse further recognition of Britain's "world monopoly," Von Ribbentrop said.

Throughout the interview, Von Ribbentrop approached Europe's problem from the "American angle," placing great emphasis on the argument presented by the Berlin newspaper Boersse Zeitung that Germany has "Monroe Doctrine" rights in Central Europe.

Rights Not Recognized

The war, he said, resulted from England's refusal to recognize these rights and her attempts to pauperize Germany and other countries of the European continent by means of economic sanctions and blockades.

Berlin spokesmen said that Welles left the Wilhelmstrasse fully impressed with the unshakable Nazi determination to achieve a "Germanic peace" and convinced of Germany's intention to fight the war through to victory.

It was made clear to him, it was said, that any effort to bring about a compromise peace had but slim chance of success and that if the United States itself were willing to mediate, Germany would ask:

"What can America do to guarantee a just and lasting peace? What assurances can be given that Britain will renounce her stranglehold on the balance of the world if an armistice is signed?"

Welles said nothing and gave no indication of his personal reaction to the interview when he left the foreign office with Alexander Kirk, American charge d'affaires, at 2:30 p. m.

ARTILLERY FIRE BREAKS OUT ON WESTERN FRONT

PARIS, March 1—An artillery duel broke out on the Lauter sector of the Western Front today after French guns dispersed several German patrols reconnoitering in that area.

The activity was described as follows by the official French war communiqué:

"A quiet night on the whole. There were patrols and firing activity in the region of Lauter."

News of the German ground scouting activity and the dispersal of the Nazis was contained in military reports to Paris.

In addition, it was disclosed that a sharp engagement occurred early yesterday between French and German patrols east of the Moselle River and that each side suffered losses. The French casualties were light, however, it was stated.

Today there were the usual front-line aviation activities but no combats developed. One German plane penetrated deep over eastern France.

congressional committee last January:

"The attorney general last spring saw fit to direct that the FBI make an extensive survey of conditions in that (Florida) area and find out why it was that some of the most vicious hoodlums in the country could proceed there and operate with such complete immunity and without interference from the authorities."

Developing the Communistic angle, the story said:

"Last February 6, a group of Communist top men from the entire nation met in Washington. One of that group was a New York City Communist who has frequently been a candidate for office on the Communist ticket."

"How to stop the FBI" was the principal discussion topic. 'Aid from congressmen' was one suggestion and 'pressure in high places' was another.

"The abortive backfiring of the forged letters in the 'smear Dies' effort was still fresh in their minds. They wanted no repetition of that. So the safer, more generally accepted red tactic of attacking through the vast network of the communist publications set-up was resorted to."

curiously behind a hole in the consulate wall.

At the same time alarming reports came from the far northern Polar Front where the Russians were said to have used the winter lull to prepare for a large-scale offensive which is now developing slowly but inexorably.

Divisions Move To South

Latest estimates said that at least two full Russian divisions—about 40,000 men—now are rolling southward near the Nautsi region, where the Finns have retired to strong defenses.

Doubt was expressed, however, that the Finns would be able to hold the Russians, and officials in Helsinki admitted they considered the situation grave.

Military dispatches said the battle outside Viborg was raging with "terrible violence" and that Russian reinforcements were constantly arriving at the front.

The Finns were reported defending their positions with grim determination and were said to have retired to their latest prepared position in good order. The Russians so far have failed to score a clean break through the Mannerheim Line, authorities maintained.
